hospital following treatment. Levier did not appear injured at the time, according to Lennox police records.

Crashes

Nicolai's car crashed into a car driven by John Robert Shanahan, 18, of 25424 Frampton avenue. Shanahan had stopped for a stop sign when the sailor's car came barreling into him, smashing the entire passenger side of Shanahan's auto and damaging the entire front end of the car, according to police.

Lennox sheriffs gave chase to Nicolai when they observed him going east on Pacific Coast highway after emerging from a drive-in restaurant in the 2300 block of Pacific Coast highway.

Wild Chase

Siren screaming and red light flashing, police pursued the car south on Cypress avenue where it went through a blinker stop light, continuing to weave excessively while picking up speed and continuing south to 255th street.

Nicolai then turned left on Pennsylvania avenue and down south to Highway 101, where he again allegedly disregarded the red stop signal, doubling back over the same route again a second time.

His speed was estimated at 80 and even 90 miles an hour. After the second time around, Nicolai continued east on Highway 101, weaving and cutting in and out between cars, violating red stop signals at every corner, including the busy in-intersections at Narbonne, Oak, and Eshelman, according to police.

Crash

He then made a swift turn at Bland place and Highway 101, smashing into Shanahan's car at Bland place and Walnut.

Prior to the collision, he side-swiped two parked cars on Bland place.

He was treated for head abrasions at Harbor General hospital and then taken to Lennox sheriff's station for booking. Officers observed Nicolai to be drunk as evidenced by his strong alcoholic breath, blood-shot eyes, slurred speech, and boisterous, belligerent manner. A half-empty quart of beer was found in the front seat.

One of the teenage girls informed officers that the sailor had been drinking "over a long period of time" while parked at a drive-in theater in Torrance.

All three of his passengers pleaded with him to stop his car during the pursuit but he did not respond.

The car had been borrowed from Corrine and George Stoffel, 25338 Walnut street, Lomita.
