Fortunate indeed is the possessor of this beautiful group of Italian Provincial furniture in Cherry. Its crisp, clean lines are beautifully emphasized by a Patina finish hand rubbed to a satin smooth gloss, and possible only with a hard, close-textured wood like Cherry. The careful "distressing" adds to the quality look and will make it always as new as the day you buy it. These pieces, part of the new theme in home decoration, are indeed "Heirloom" furniture. Available in Pumice and Briar finishes.

speed to spare

Speed is one of the very best features of cooking electrically. A modern electric range cooks with fast intense heat which springs into action instantly, reaches desired temperature in seconds and stays right there until food is cooked to perfection. With no "warm-up" needed and no heat lost, it's just a step from start to serving... and you get perfect results every time.

Electric cooking is for you: it's so much better... yet it costs so little!
