Once upon a time in the City of Torrance there dwelled some men and women who were the decent, neighborly sort of folks "most everybody likes to meet with now" n then. They represented nearly every corner of the whole darned town and a heck of a lot of the city's many organizations. Maybe like a bunch of vigilantes, they figured their job was to look out for themselves and their neighbors for the common good of all, especially when there comes a chance they might lose their voice in city goin'-on.

Just this week, for instance, these same folks are doing coming Torrance city elections on April 10 might be a good reason to band together and pool their ideas about politics. Well, you can bet your bottom dollar that "most everybody had the same idea" they all thought, "Now's the time to do somethin' about agreein' on some City Council candidates before the "Reactionary Torrance Faction" gets in too many licks with their vested interest." So . . . they all united into the Home Owners Association for Better Government.

These neighbors of ours elected a recently retired Torrance police sergeant as association president cause he's a fellow everybody in town likes and admires—W. G. (Bill) Evans. Now Bill also has a dandy bunch of folks workin' with him. There's Herma Tillim, well known woman civic leader, who's vice president; Tom Abrams, a hard workin' man from Victoria Knolls, secretary; and J. A. Beasley, nearly everybody knows him as a Walteria business man and civic leader, our treasurer. They also elected a bunch of other folks to the executive board, but don't reckon you're interested in any more names right now.

Once organized, they first off set up some objectives then selected three mighty fine candidates, who best represent the majority interests of Torrance's 73,000 residents and who, if elected, won't cow-tow to control of the City Council by wealthy private interests. There were some mighty fine candidates, but the association officers figure the three they picked are just the ones the average home owner in Torrance would choose if he was to screen 'em all. Here are the three men the association's goin' to support for election. How many of them do you know?

Vic Benstead

Bob Jahn

Bill King

Victor E. Benstead has been on the City Council for the past four years and has served all the folks honestly and well. Right now on the council, he's the balance between what's good for Torrance and what ain't so good. Robert B. Jahn is a young, energetic family fellow who is president of the Hollywood Riviera Home Owners and a member of the City Airport Commission. He's a World War II vet, past district commander of the American Legion, a college man, and a building contractor. William E. King has spent many years in Torrance. He is highly respected by Torrance merchants through his years of association with them as an advertising manager. He also has been active in community affairs. Another nice family man, Bill completes what the Home Owners Association believes is a team of honest, decent, capable candidates for your consideration.
