Toastmasters Hear Tennis Champ Speak

"Very few tennis champions are masters of the game on all types of tennis courts," explained Don Low, erstwhile California State Tennis champion who played with the University of San Francisco.

Low spoke to the Torrance Toastmasters at the meeting last week.

Low went on to say that the different types of courts are the concrete, as we have in this area; the clay floor, which is slick and difficult to play on; and the grass-floored courts, which our champions will be playing on in Australia this fall as they vie for the Davis Cup.

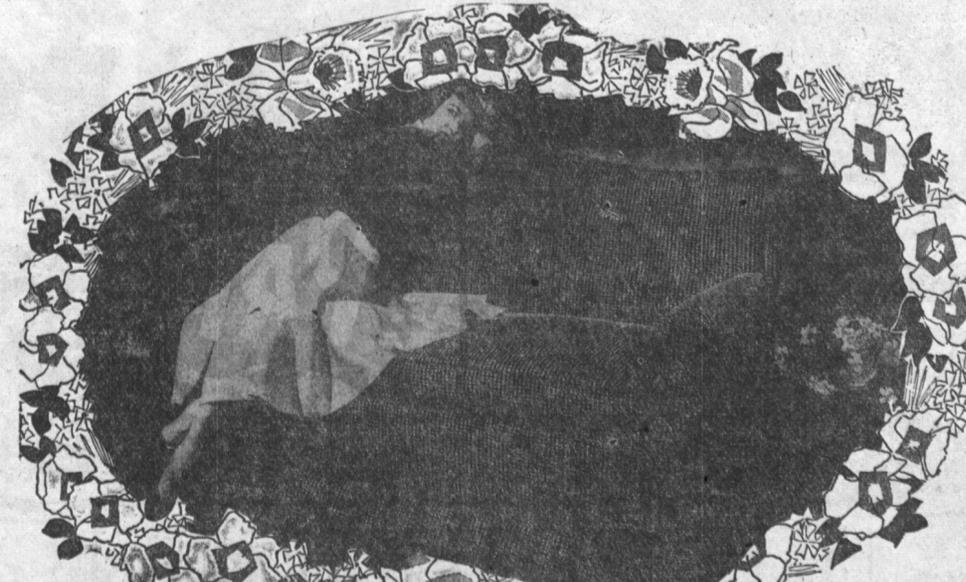

Low resides in San Francisco and is in this area visiting his brother, Dr. Warren Harvard Low of Torrance and Lomita.

Next meeting will be Tuesday, April 17, at the Fish Shanty in Waverly, 7 p.m.

Others on the program which was handled by Chief Warrant Officer Kenneth Anderson, U.S. Navy, were: Dr. Warren Low speaking on "The Humorous Side of Optometry," Harry Harwood with "The Golden Road to Riches," Kenneth McBreen with "A Touch of Larceny in Everyone," and Charlie Smith with a humorous touch of cowboy life entitled "Breaking the Ice."
