The "people of Union Carbide" include the men and women who operate the Torrance plant of Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company.

A pound of fuel to light Chicago

That's ALL THE URANIUM needed to produce atomic power equal to the energy in 3 million pounds of coal. It could light Chicago for a full day!

ATOMIC RESEARCH is focused on developing an economical way to produce electricity from atomic energy. Scientists at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, which Union Carbide Nuclear Company operates for the Atomic Energy Commission, have already built experimental power producing reactors that are serving as a guide to commercial atom power plants.

PEACEFUL USES for the atom have also been found in the diagnosis and treatment of disease. Radioactivity is uncovering important facts about plant and animal growth. Industry uses the atom's radiation to control production processes, to test product quality, and for research.

THE CHALLENGING FIELD of atomic energy is not new to the people of Union Carbide. They have been pioneering in every phase of this exciting business—from the mining of uranium ore to harnessing the atom for our future comfort and well-being.
