Soroptimist Celebrate 35th Birthday

Miss Frances Stephan, a member of the club and Principal of Perry Junior high school in Gardena, gave an inspiring talk at the regular Monday luncheon meeting held at The Palms a local restaurant. Miss Stephan told of the growth of the club, which was 400 times since its inception 35 years ago. The organization was by a man in Oakland who called upon a firm to start a service club for men.

The executive happen to be a woman and she mentioned that if a woman's service club were ever started she would like to join. This gave the caller an idea and he named the club after two Greek words: Soro meaning 'Sister' and Optimi, meaning 'of the highest'.

The club, with its tremendous growth now is International and has three Federations: The American, England and Ireland, and Continental Europe. An interesting point brought out by Miss Stephan was the International Scholarship fund that is kept up by donations from members who give one cent for each number of years on their birthday. These scholarships are given to deserving women where the need is greatest. The club also extends help to older women and children in need.

Miss Stephan said the club slogan is "Working for the World we want" and she hoped the members were like the prisoner who looked out of jail and saw stars and not like the one who looked and only saw mud. She also recommended for better fellowship that members sit beside others that were not so well known to them instead of beside the same one each time.

President Margaret Neff presided, one guest, Ruth Davis was present, and a charter member returned to the club, Ellnor Derher.

Speaker for the next meeting October 15th will be Leonard DiMiceli.
