

NEW PLYMOUTH SUBURBAN

Plymouth offers 12 different models of Suburbans in its new 1957 line of cars. They include two-door and four-door models, with either PowerFlow Six or Fury 301 V-8 engines. Four of them are 9-passenger cars with a rearward facing third seat. All have Plymouth's revolutionary new Torsion-Aire ride. Car pictured here is Custom Two-Door Suburban.

Plymouth Torsion-Aire Named As Outstanding

Torsion-Aire ride, an innovation in the 1957 Plymouth, produces the most comfortable riding qualities and the greatest ease of handling yet achieved in any American automobile, says Robert Anderson, Plymouth chief engineer.

The riding and handling qualities are not attributable to any particular item, but rather are the results of new engineering concepts. Many components, including a new frame, new suspension system, new wheels and tires and improved steering linkage, combine to produce Plymouth's Torsion-Aire ride.

The model will go on display locally Monday, October 29, at Whittlesey Motors, DeSoto-Plymouth dealers, 1600 Cabrillo.

The Plymouth frames for 1957 are completely new and, with five heavy crossmembers, are inherently stronger. Frames are longer, with the side rails extending ahead of the front crossmembers and thus giving better protection by allowing shorter and stiffer bumper supports.

Noteworthy among the suspension improvements is the use of torsion bar springs in the front suspension system, which replace coil springs.

Torsion bar springing has long been preferred by designers of sport cars in which cornering and road hugging characteristics are of major impor-

14-inch tires with a two to four-pound reduction in air pressure. The combination of greater air volume and lower pressure completely absorbs many minor road shocks. There are wider wheel rims which provide a steadier support for tires against side loads, as in turns. This feature provides greater resistance to tire roll, and reduces stopping distances, especially on wet roads; according to recent road tests, the new tread pattern gives greater tire mileage.

Saxon ... High ... Lights
By BONNIE WILLIAMS

Who was it that said the English have a dry sense of humor? This one looks all wet. But the British Empire news swears by its tea cups that it has proof that the earth will be visited by Martians November 7.

An "unimpeachable source" reports that flying saucers will descend 10,000 feet over the Los Angeles area and attempt to communicate with the earth on this date.

Rumor has it that the earth has already been contacted once and that tape recordings forty-five minutes long were made of the contact. More than one radio station has agreed to go off the air around 10:30 p.m. on the specified night just to see if they can pick up anything. The school radio station's KNHS staffers will also be on the alert for anything unusual.

Oh well, maybe the British have just got an inferior brand of tea.

Hawthorne Victory 27-6
North High's opening league game with Hawthorne appeared to have been one of the best games that the varsity has ever played. Hawthorne was cited as the team most likely to take first place in the Pioneer league but they had a rough fight from the Saxon team at the Torrance High field last Saturday night.

This game also celebrated the Saxons second annual Dads Night. Maybe the Dads on the bench had something to do with the terrific struggle their sons put up to try to win this game. The Saxons got their first touchdown in the first quarter of the game, and it looked like they were going to go all of the way.

The North High gridgers will tackle Beverly Hills this Friday at 2:45 in Beverly Hills. Don't forget that the team needs all of your support.

Dance Honors Varsity
The Saxon Band sponsored an after game dance last Saturday the first to be held in our cafeteria. All of the varsity football players were admitted to the dance free of charge. Paper footballs with each boys name and number adorned the walls of the cafeteria. All of the decorations were in fall colors.

Last Thursday, to promote the sale of the tickets for this dance, some of the boys in the band took their instruments out on the quad and had a regular jam session.

There was a crowd of 275 students at this dance.
