Harbor Youth Honored For Chest Help

Harbor Area youngsters serving the Community Chest were among the more than 100 Southland youth honored recently by Los Angeles County on Red Feather Kid day.

A resolution proclaiming Red Feather Kid day was introduced by Supervisor John Anson Ford and unanimously adopted by the County Board of Supervisors.

"Red Feather Kid Day calls special attention to these outstanding junior citizens, leaders and goodwill ambassadors of the Community Chest," the resolution stated.

Representing 45 Chest-supported youth agencies, the Red Feather Kids are selected for their outstanding leadership qualities, participation in their agency, articulation, scholarship and personal appearance.

Making public appearances at Chest rallies, school assemblies, church, PTA and service club meetings, the youngsters tell the Chest story in their own words from their own experience.

THERE'S A LITTLE BIT OF CALIFORNIA in almost every kitchen

Polyethylene, made here at CARBIDE from California natural resources, has found its way into almost everybody's kitchen.

Nowadays, bread and other baked goods stay fresh for days because polyethylene is used in their wrapping materials. Fruits and vegetables wrapped in polyethylene film hold their vitamins and natural colors. Frozen food and leftovers keep moist and tasty when put away in polyethylene containers.

Polyethylene is pliable, tough, and easy to clean. That's why you find appliance covers, mixing bowls, drinking cups, and other kitchen necessities made from it.

Much of the polyethylene for these and other worth-while purposes is made right here at Torrance, by men and women at CARBIDE. So universally accepted has polyethylene become that, you might say, "There's a little bit of California in almost every kitchen."
