

Housewife Advises on Credit Buying, So Does BB Bureau

How can you protect yourself when buying on credit? A Torrance housewife called the Torrance Press recently to explain what had happened to her and to offer advice to credit buyers, especially young married couples just starting out.

That advice is: know what you're signing; figure out how much your total payment comes to; and know who is carrying the financing papers.

Sometimes, she said, it's better to go without an item than to pay excessive financing costs.

Better Business Bureau

A check with the Better Business Bureau revealed the following information regarding carrying charges and refunds.

"We are reliably informed that the courts have said that one may set any price he sees fit on his property or labor and refuse to accede to any other price," Robert L. Galley, assistant general manager, stated.

Students Enter Scholarship Competition

June Nakawatase, North Torrance High school, and Richard Bentwood, Torrance High school, represented their respective high schools in the March 16 "Leaders of Tomorrow" scholarship competition sponsored by Bullock's Inc.

The above does not apply to interest charges on direct loans which are controlled by State laws.
