San Francisco... 'Big Top' Came To Harbor City

dark, motor through the eery, winding streets of San Francisco's famed waterfront, and visit the Tin Angel, a virtual shack from the outside, and, inside, a Left-Bank restaurant of cafe society, where Dixieland dominates the mood.

As a climax to your day in the city by the Gate, drive up to the Mark Hopkins, the elegant hotel atop one of the city's tallest hills, and take the express elevator to the Top 'O The Mark, the beautiful glass dome which overlooks the sweeping bay. From this skyscraper point, you can view the silhouettes of the city at night, accentuated by a million polka-dots of neon.

GOLDEN GATE
To the left, shimmering in orange night-lights, is the arching curve of the Golden Gate. The blue-gray fog swirls in again over the city, blanketing the brilliant neons, and the toot of a creeping barge lulls the city. A cable car grinds its last noisy run up Market street. The first-nighters pour from the Opera house, the Alcazar, and get.

Harbor City school held its annual May Dance festival on May 17 with "The Big Top Comes to Harbor City." With the help of the P-TA mothers the dances were well executed and the festival activities held after the dances, were highly successful.

the Curran and head for the Italian Village, Bimbo's, the Fairmont, the Purple Onion, Fack's, the Hungry "T", and the Fallen Angel for one last Irish coffee and the late floor show.

And then, while San Francisco sleeps, the bistros and cellar cafes come to life again. And, in this city of perpetual daytime, waits an experience in eating that the visitor will never forget.

Anniversary Celebration

TROPICAL BOWL NURSERY

2457 LOMITA BLVD., LOMITA

JOE LITTLEFIELD
One of the southland's foremost garden authorities

The Tropical Bowl Nursery will hear a talk by Joe Littlefield, one of the Southland's foremost garden authorities, during its 1st Anniversary Sale, Fri., Sat., and Sun., May 24, 25, & 26, meeting at 2457 Lomita Blvd., Lomita.

Mr. Littlefield is famous for covering his subject both authoritatively and entertainingly. Joe Littlefield's enthusiasm for gardening, and sincere interest in the home gardener's problems, are reflected in both his lectures and the articles he contributes to leading garden magazines. The lively informality of his talks enables him to hold the attention of both expert and beginning gardeners.

From twenty-five years of "dirt-under-the-fingernails" experience, Littlefield has distilled a practical gardening philosophy which stresses fundamentals. "How to garden successfully," he maintains, "can be learned far more easily than many games. And, as in many games it is following through conscientiously on a few basic principles that produces winning results."
