

New Teachers At El Camino

Three newcomers, Terrel L. Dalton, Edwin E. Pinkston, and Mrs. Grace M. Edwards, will join the division of industry and technology at El Camino college during the coming year, it was announced today by William H. Harless, director of instruction. The three will work with Assistant Director Horace Bates.

Mrs. Edwards, who will teach drafting, was born in San Antonio, Texas, and currently lives in Burbank. Her early educational training was received at Calvert school in Baltimore, Md. She attended Central High school in San Juan, Puerto Rico, Wisconsin Preparatory school in Madison, the University of Wisconsin and the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Edwards has experience as a draftsman in geology, engineering, and architecture.

Resides in Hermosa Beach
A mechanical drafting instructor, Dalton is a resident of Hermosa Beach, where he makes his home with his wife and two children. A native of Clenn's Ferry, Ida., he received his college training at Oregon State and the University of California at Los Angeles.

A chief draftsman, design draftsman, structural detailer, and structural drafting department head in industry, Dalton has had prior teaching experience at Los Angeles Trade Tech Junior college.

Television Teacher
Radio television is the instructional field of Pinkston, a Lawndale resident with his wife and two children. He is a native of Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Pinkston received the majority of his educational background in Madera and comes to El Camino following extensive experience as a television technician in industry.
