

December is the month to save at f

If you are like almost everyone else we know, this is the month you start saving the way you meant to save all during the past year. The thought of all the names on your Christmas list is enough to shake anyone up. Being the good Samaritans that we are, we are making every effort to see that there is a little money left over on your food budget so you can apply it to your Christmas gifts. If you have been shopping at the fabulous Food Giant all year, you have probably saved enough money on your food bill by now to take care of your entire gift list and have enough left over to retire (well, almost retire).
