Patrol Says: 'Don't Drink And Drive'

Determined enforcement action against all violations with special emphasis on controlling the drinking driver problem is promised during the holidays by the local unit of the California Highway Patrol.

"Each year, drivers under the influence of alcohol add considerably to our traffic problems just prior to and during the December holidays," stated Captain D. A. Watkins of the Compton Area unit of the patrol. "This office will join in the state-wide action against the drinking driver and, in cooperation with agents of the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, exert enforcement action in a professional effort to contain the problem."

"We are appealing to everyone to limit drinking at holiday parties to avoid driving while under the influence of alcohol," Capt. Watkins stated. "It is best to ride home, not drive home, if you have imbibed too freely."

"The drinking driver problem can be controlled through the proper application of enforcement plus the full cooperation of every driver and pedestrian," he concluded. "The Patrol, ABC, and other enforcement agencies will provide the enforcement action; the rest is up to you."
