

Drowning Hazards Stressed

Crackdown on unsafe sumps was ordered by the City Council as an emergency action, taken as result of the tragic drowning of two Redondo Beach brothers over the weekend.

Mayor Albert Isen ordered the public works department to "hire extra help if necessary," to inspect the fencing of all the sumps.

At the same time, Isen said he had received a report that a hazardous drainage pond exists on South High School property.

Deep Sump

"I'm told that this sump is 30 feet deep and is protected by insufficient chicken wire fence," the Mayor said.

Planning Director George Powell said that he had notified the Board of Education 10 days before, advising them of the hazard.

Isen also suggested that nets be used as protection against children playing around sumps.

Councilman Willys Blount originated the request that all city sumps be inspected immediately and thoroughly.

Foot Patrol

His colleague, Councilman Robert Jahn agreed, but ordered that public works inspector actually walk around each of the sumps for a complete investigation of the fences.

Isen commented that the safety program may be a long-range one "since sumps will probably be with us for some time to come."

Blount said he learned that one sump, behind the Lucky Market, has a low place where children can crawl under the fence.

Coleman Plant Opens Here for Research Program

Coleman Engineering Company, Inc. started business in its new manufacturing, administrative, research and development facilities at 3500 Torrance Blvd., Torrance, yesterday.

The plant, consisting of an Administrative Building and a Research and Development Laboratory Building, was designed and constructed by the William J. Moran Company, Los Angeles. The new facility, owned by the Del Amo Estate Company, was built at a cost of $900,000 and was especially planned to handle Coleman's diversified activity.

The Coleman units are the first group of a Research and Development Industrial Park in Torrance zoned exclusively for such projects.

Coleman Engineering Company was formerly located in Culver City. The new plant combines the work formerly carried on in the six Culver City locations to provide more efficient production on Coleman's government and industrial contracts.

Coleman Engineering Company also built and operates under contract with the United States Air Force the Hurricane Supersonic Research Site near Zion National Park, Utah.

Free Lecture At Christian Science Church

How spiritual understanding of God can be applied to solve problems of today's materialism—including fear, disease, and sin—will be the topic of a free lecture on Christian Science by Richard Knox Lee of London, England, in Torrance, April 4, 1958.

Mrs. Lee will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in the church edifice, 218st. st. and Manuel ave., at 8 p.m. His subject will be "Christian Science: The Law of Spiritual Dominion over Material Domination."

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mrs. Lee is on an extended tour. For many years active in education in Great Britain, he became a student of Christian Science after he was healed of an illness that invalidated him from the British Army during World War I. He has been a Christian Science practitioner since 1929, and is an authorized teacher of Christian Science.

Hoax or Crime? Police Probe Downtown Kidnap

Torrance police today concluded that a "kidnaping" in downtown Torrance Tuesday noon must have been an April Fool's Day prank.

Police cars made a diligent search for a black sedan, after several witnesses reported a young man or woman was abducted in broad daylight at Sartori and El Prado.

Witnesses said the car pulled to the curb, one man jumped out and forced the victim into the back seat of the sedan after firing a couple of shots. A paper sack covered the rear plate of the getaway car.
