Importance of Signals Stressed By Patrol Chief

Signal your intention before making lane changes or turns when other vehicles may be affected warns the California Highway Patrol.

"Failure to signal or give adequate signals before changing lanes or turning is the cause of many intersection crashes and side-swipe collisions on multi-lane highways," stated Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "Adequate signals include hand and arm or signal device, properly indicating the anticipated action, given continuously during the last 100 feet traveled by the vehicle before changing the course of travel."

"Generally, hand and arm signals during daylight hours and signal devices at night are most practical," Caldwell continued. "It should also be remembered that a signal is required when slowing down or stopping."

"One of the basic reasons for signals is to let the other driver know what moves you expect to make, thus enabling him to adjust his driving accordingly," he concluded. "Positive signals properly given will add considerably to the smooth flow of traffic and help prevent collisions involving turning movements."

Cranston Hits Income Loss by State at Present

Charges that millions of dollars in state funds have been lost due to "incredible mismanagement" by the incumbent Republican State Controller and two other state officials were made today by Alan Cranston, Democratic candidate for Controller.

"The Controller has favored the banks, not the people," Cranston declared. "He was one of those responsible for the fact that an average of $90,000,000 of state money sat in bank accounts that paid no interest—until the treasury scandals came to light in 1955. After the scandals, the amount kept in non-interest paying accounts was cut to $42,000,000, and this month, reportedly over the objections of the Controller, this amount was slashed to $37,000,000."

"Thus before 1955 the state was needlessly losing interest and other income on approximately $55,000,000, and since then it apparently has been losing interest and income on approximately $5,000,000."

"I don't know a single businessman or housewife who doesn't invest spare money in a savings account or elsewhere. Why anyone handling state money should behave any differently is a mystery."

"Mishandling of state funds has meant that citizens who have paid their state taxes and then had to go down to the bank to borrow money at high interest rates have been borrowing their own money back from banks that had it interest free."

"The Legislative Auditor charged in 1956 that for the preceding 10 years these 'managerial deficiencies' cost the state in lost interest alone an average of $500,000 a year. Evidence has now accumulated that the losses have actually amounted to millions of dollars a year both before and since 1955."

Douglas Aircraft Scholarships to Be Presented

Scholarships totaling $200,000 will be awarded by the Douglas Aircraft Company to 2200 of its employees and their children and to 36 colleges during 1958-59. The total is the largest allocated to the scholarship program since its founding 13 years ago, it was announced by A. E. Raymond, vice president-engineering.

Approved by the company scholarship board headed by Raymond, the grants assist employees and their children in paying a substantial part of the cost of undergraduate and graduate college-level courses.

Largest number of scholarship program beneficiaries will be employees who work full-time and attend college extension classes during off-duty hours. Last year 1600 employees participated in this plan. This number is expected to increase by several hundred this year.

Two other types of scholarships are offered by the company. These are for employees who attend college full time while on an approved leave of absence and for employees who work part time and attend college part time. Forty such scholarships were awarded last year. In addition, 200 children of employees received college education grants last year.
