Hahn Urges Passage of Bond Issue To Speed Up Road Building

A new concept of highway financing — permitting immediate construction of critically needed county roads, with the projects to be paid for while being used — will be submitted at the November election, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced this week.

The proposal, a constitutional amendment, will allow counties and cities to issue bonds for road construction, with the bonds to be retired out of future gas tax receipts. If passed, the measure will ratify the Street and Road Bond Act passed by the 1957 session of the State Legislature.

"Approval of this legislation will be a major step forward in making it possible to solve the critical road deficiency problem in Los Angeles County. It means that badly needed roads could be immediately built or improved to modern day standards, thus eliminating the costly and irritating congestion and the hazardous conditions of many of our major roads and streets," Supervisor Hahn declared.

Long an advocate of the proposal, he emphasized that it would not result in any change in the present gas tax rate.

The Supervisor pointed out that Los Angeles County has a road deficiency of more than $400,000,000.

"This means that it would cost that much just to bring such major county roads as Imperial highway, El Segundo boulevard, Rosecrans ave., Manhattan Beach boulevard, Compton boulevard, Anza avenue, Aviation boulevard, and similar roads throughout Los Angeles County up to modern day standards — so that they could carry today's traffic load safely and efficiently," Supervisor Hahn explained.

It would take 16 years to improve these roads to meet today's traffic demands if every cent of gas tax money received by Los Angeles County were to be spent from now on out in improving major and secondary highways, he continued.

"The truth is, however, that only a small portion of the $25,000,000 received each year by Los Angeles County in gas taxes is spent on building and improving these major streets. The rest of it is spent on right of way, maintaining existing roads, traffic signals and control, de-each day, we must take immediate, drastic action. The proposed constitutional amendment, which will be on the November ballot as a proposition, is one step in the right direction," Supervisor Hahn stated.
