TEAC to Consider School Bond Need
Reports on the need for a bond election, school construction, and summer school are slated at the July 14 meeting of the Torrance Education Advisory Committee, as well as a tour of the new Educational Materials Building and other district facilities.

At the last school board meeting, the need for a bond election to get more funds for the school's building program was considered, with a fall date discussed. It was pointed out that the district nearly has reached the limit of its bonding capacity to be eligible for further state aid in building needed schools.

Enrollment Open
Eighth grade and high school orchestra and band members from North High, South High, Torrance High and parochial high school may still enroll this week in summer instrumental music courses at Torrance High School. Classes meet from 8-10 a.m. daily. James Nichols of Torrance High is music director.
