Pipe Dream Ends in Smokers Nightmare

Steve Lesko is a man with a sad pipe-dream. As a matter of fact it's become a tobaccoist's nightmare. Lesko owns Steve's Tobacco Shop, at 1813 S. Catalina St., Hollywood Riviera, where one might assume he would have a great variety of smoking equipment. Which he does. But last week a terrible thing happened to him. His king-sized pipe, a Turkish Koka was broken in an accident. It was Lesko's favorite, because six persons could use it simultaneously. He used a special water and brandy mixture on the bottom of the handsomely decorated bowl, and inhaled the tobacco fragrance through one of six hoses attached to it. Lesko was the proud owner of the fragile pipe for a long time, and he and his friends used to have a good social time inhaling whiffs of the tobacco aroma from the pipe which stood more than four feet high. With his favorite broken, he must now use a smaller water pipe, which requires that he cut down his circle of friends. This one has only four hoses.

Hairstylists Hold Installation

More than 100 guests and members filled the banquet room of the Plush Horse Saturday evening to enjoy the installation dinner dance of the South Bay Hairstylist Assn. Unit No. 33.

Bronze and gold floral arrangements of spider mums decorated the tables and cornucopias filled with petite daises marked the place settings of the officers.

Among the dignitaries present to enjoy the installation were Mayors and Mesdames Isen, Torrance, Goodman, Rolling Hills and Center, Redondo Beach.

Also present were Ellen Pettie, corresponding secretary, Lavonne Victorine, recording secretary, Fanny Ensor, financial secretary, Jessie Poor, treasurer, Van De Walker, second vice president and Nel Lockard, director, all state officers of the California Cosmetologist association.

As master of ceremonies, John Payne, southern director of C. C. A. introduced Ruggies Marlin, past president of C.C.A., and the installing officer, Marlin installed the following officers into their respective offices.

Mrs. Marguerite Robinson, president, Andy Nizetich vice president, Mrs. Jessie Lewis, corresponding secretary, Mrs. George Lewis, recording secretary, Mrs. Margaret Allars, treasurer, Mrs. Jerry Osborn, director and parliamentarian, Mrs. Lee Witte, and Sephus Brown, directors.
