Weather Unit Goes to Airport

The city's official weather station was moved from the North Torrance fire station to the Torrance Municipal Airport Monday.
Fire officials said that it is normal procedure to have the weather bureau at a municipal airport because pilots are the most interested group to find out weather conditions, and also because the open area is more conducive to accurate readings. Temperatures and rainfall are measured here daily.

Principal Not Dead

Dr. Bruce Magner, principal of South High School, vehemently denies that he is dead.
Apparently due to a mix-up in names, a number of residents called the school offices after they heard about the death of a man by the same name on the radio.

Forger Suspect to Be Returned from Virginia

Det. Sgt. Mickey Fisher will leave for Fairfax, Va. tomorrow to return a forgery suspect to Torrance.

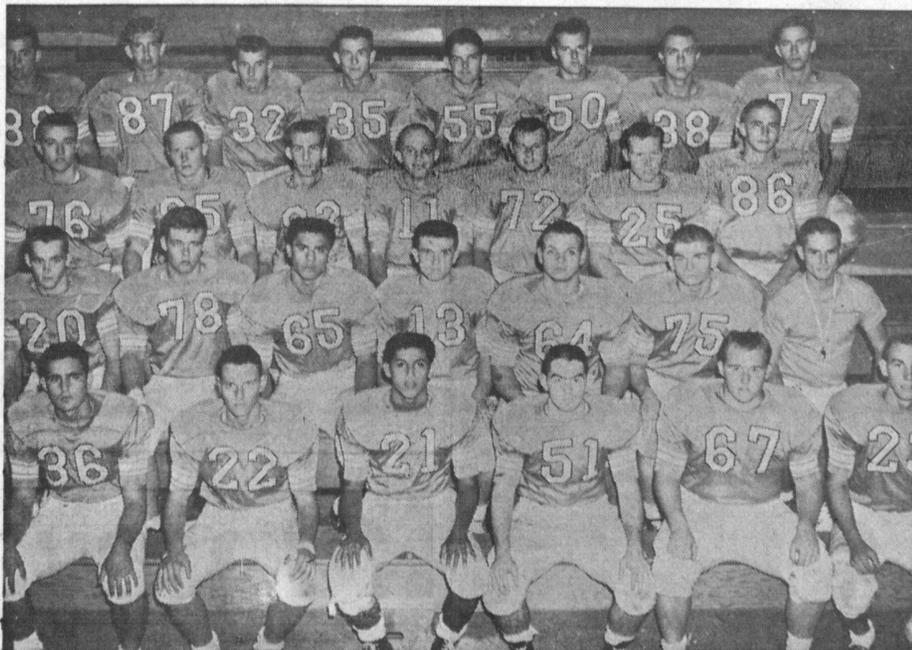

The officer will return William C. Boyd, 31, a welder to Torrance to stand trial for allegedly passing $2700 in payroll checks taken from the office of Louis C. Dunn, contractor for the new Broadway Store.

Officers said that Boyd purchased a late model Cadillac with the money and headed to Virginia with a woman and her three children, leaving his bride of five weeks.

Suspects Held In Shooting

As soon as they got the car started, the suspects lost their way in the fog and the auto came mired in the mud along the roadway.
The abandoned machine, registered to Barreras' uncle, led Torrance and sheriff's detectives to the suspects, who were arrested Sunday, after they left the scene on foot.

The juveniles allegedly admitted they took the shotgun away from two smaller boys in a gang fight, and they later saved it down.
The suspects were ordered held in county jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.
