

Tourists Visit Napa During September Harvest Season

It's September, and the annual harvest season is underway all over California.

This is a special attraction for late-summer vacationers. A week or even a weekend in the country at this time of year pays off in fun and learning.

Torrance area fruit raisers are just as busy as those in agricultural communities during harvest time.

But if you're looking for an excuse to take a trip, California offers a variety of regions to visit, from the olive groves by the Sacramento river to the date oases in the Imperial valley.

In the San Joaquin valley, for example, you can choose your own vine-ripened melons for a taste treat while you watch the harvesters loading up for market.

Some peach growers will allow the tourist to pick his own for a price, of course.

If you have a yen for berrying or apple plucking, visit the coastal areas north of Watsonville.

Perhaps the most spectacular of all is the grape harvest now getting started in vineyards from Cucamonga to Ukiah on the Redwood highway.

Wine-making is one of California's chief industries, and whether or not you are a customer, watching the process of converting ripe, juicy grapes into wine is an exciting experience.

If you're planning a trip to San Francisco, an easy side visit can be made to the renowned Napa valley, where mile after mile of green vines stretch up and down the mountainside.

The grape harvest in the Napa valley begins Saturday and lasts throughout the month.

Most wineries welcome visitors and will conduct Torrance guests on free tours through the vineyards and cellars, winding up with a tasting session in which you may sample the best of the local product.

For example, a hand is extended from host Edward Cohan of the Martini winery, a typical Napa plant. "We want to win friends from Southern California," he says.

Cohan believes that "we're all Californians and it's always good for us to know as much as possible about each other and our kinds of business."

The Napa valley has warm days and cool, wet nights, a combination which produces the nation's best wines.

Starting Saturday, trucks loaded with grapes from surrounding vineyards will roll into the plants near the town of St. Helena. The grapes will be pressed into liquid and carried by hose or pipes into giant open vats where fermentation begins.

"HESPERIA FRED" NOLLER

Desert Expert to Address Lions

Thrills and excitement of life on the desert will be outlined for members of the Torrance Lions Club Tuesday by Fred Noller, speaker for the M. Penn Phillips Co.

Noller, popularly known as "Hesperia Fred," has lived most of his life on the desert and has lectured and written widely on "The Fabulous Mohave Desert," which is the subject of his Tuesday night talk.

Noller owned property in the area where Calico Ghost Town is now located; for many years he was manager of Calico.

Cities Honor Supervisor at Testimonial

A milling throng of 1,000 people crowded into the Polynesian Restaurant Thursday night to honor long-time County Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

Members of the Torrance city council and chamber of commerce were among the local officials who attended.

A parade of 35 resolutions, testimonials and plaques were presented Chace by city representatives from Malibu to Long Beach, all Fourth district communities served by the supervisor.

Isten Praises Chace

Mayor Albert Isten gave Chace a council resolution commending him for his service to the Torrance area.

Said the mayor, "One hundred thousand men, women and children are your hosts tonight in the All-American city of Torrance."

A cap pistol on stage went off with a bang.

Isten was followed by J. H. Paget, president of the chamber of commerce, who presented Chace a plaque in the form of a fish; Councilman Nick Draie then gave the supervisor a key to the city of Torrance.

Jessel Runs Show

Master of ceremonies for the affair was George Jessel, whose witty remarks punctuated the string of resolutions.

Clearly moved by the reception, Chace thanked "all your wonderful people for your kindness."

Hospital to Offer Nursing Course

A free class for nursing aides will be given at Riviera Hospital, Torrance, beginning on Thursday. The class is planned to help provide well qualified nursing aides, who are critically short in supply in this area, according to Mrs. Georgia Duehring, director of nurses at Riviera Hospital.

The classes will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p. m. The six-week course will cover the nursing arts professional ethics and medical nomenclature.

For those who pass the exam, some immediate positions will be open. There is no charge for the course; however, the hospital requests first call on employing graduates for a period of six months, according to Mrs. Duehring.

Adults May Obtain High School Diploma

Torrance Evening High School will again offer courses leading to high school diplomas to adults in Torrance and the vicinity. Persons wishing to enroll for high school credit should register at the Adult Education Office, Torrance High School, or call FA. 8-8080, Ext. 295, before Sept. 14, if possible.

G. E. D. tests are available to both veterans and non-veterans for credit toward a high school diploma. Upon successfully passing these tests, veterans need complete a course in U.S. history and U.S. government only.

High school requirement courses are scheduled at Torrance High and North High Schools and any course taught in the adult education program may be taken for high school credit. Last year approximately 150 adults received a diploma through the Torrance Evening High School.

Thursday to Begin Fall Swimming Slate

Open air swimming at Victor E. Benstead Plunge will continue through the next two months.

The new fall swimming schedule will begin next Thursday, announces Allen E. Pell of the Torrance recreation department.

Participants must be Torrance residents not younger than seven years of age and not under four feet tall.

Admission for children 12 years and under will be 20c and for teenagers and adults 25c.

The schedule runs as follows, Monday through Friday from 3 to 6 p. m. and Saturday and Sunday from 12 noon to 6 p. m.

Evening sessions will be arranged from 7 to 9 p. m.

The pool will close for the season Sunday Oct. 4 at 6 p. m. An earlier closing date for evening swims will be announced if the weather turns cold.

The summer instructional swimming classes were ended Friday.

Harbor JC Students

Evening students at Harbor Junior College will register from 6 to 8 p. m. Thursday and Friday, according to William McMasters, dean of admissions.

Registration will be open to both evening and day students from 1 to 3 p. m. on Saturday.

McMasters cautioned that no new registrants will be accepted today through Wednesday. Classes begin Sept. 14.
