It's A Wise Parent A Common Sense Approach to Your Child By Janice Coe

Dear Miss Coe, What kind of reflection is it on our society when someone like Elvis Presley, who has done nothing more than millions of young men are called on to do, gets out of the Army where he has obviously had a ball, and thousands of teen-agers run squealing and screaming to see him come home? You're always siding with the teen-agers, I know. Do you call that kind of action desirable? What would you do if your daughter was part of such nonsense? —Disgusted Parent

Dear Disgusted, One swallow doesn't make a summer... and one Presley doesn't make a society. But just as the swallow is a sign of summer, so is Presley a symbol to young folk... of romance, glamor, success. Don't misunderstand... to me he is a FALSE symbol... fashioned, not by our youth, but by cynical adults... managers, press agents, publicists and newshawks. He is a symbol to them of how they can manipulate the minds, hearts and pocketbooks of the American public. If my daughter were part of such nonsense I would blame myself for having given her false ideals and false gods to live by. And I would try to help our society realize that a hero's welcome and rewards belong to the true heroes... of medicine, education and culture... not to little boys with wiggly hips.
