1200 Attend Osteopathic Hospital's Grand Opening

Lay members and doctors who have worked for construction of a new hospital were honored Sunday at the dedication of the new Bay Harbor Osteopathic Hospital at 1437 Lomita Blvd., Harbor City.

More than 1200 persons turned out for open house and the dedication ceremony. Dr. W. Ballentine Henley, president of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, was the speaker and presided at a brief ribbon-cutting ceremony opening the $1,200,000 50-bed institution.

First patients were admitted yesterday.

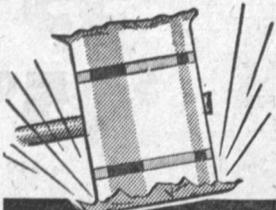

Dr. Merle Boyce of Redondo Beach was general chairman of the dedication committee.

Visitors were conducted through the hospital by doctors headed by chief of Staff George Wall of San Pedro, nurses headed by Superintendent of Nurses Josephine Mitchell, and by Guild members headed by Mrs. Charles Crawford. The Guild also served coffee, cookies, and doughnuts.

A week ago volunteer workers turned out en masse to landscape grounds of the hospital in preparation for the opening program.
