

State Controller Reveals Per-Pupil Annual Costs

Average California school district expenditures in the 1958-59 school year were $351.35 for an elementary school pupil, $533.73 for a high school student, $598.26 for a junior college student, and $413.69 for a pupil in a unified district.

These annual costs per pupil, embracing general fund expenditures, were revealed by Alan Cranston, state controller, as his office issued a report on school district financial transactions.

Comparable figures for the prior year were $342.75 per pupil at the elementary level, $528.41 at the high school level, $580.43 at the junior college level, and $401.54 for a pupil in a unified district.

Cranston defined a unified district as one in which the boundaries for all districts are coterminous and administration is handled by a single school board.

Daily costs per pupil in 1958-59, based on a school year of 175 days, were $2.01 in elementary schools, $3.05 in high schools, $3.48 in junior colleges, and $2.42 in unified district schools, Cranston said.

Testimony against a Lomita music school was taken Friday at the South Bay Municipal Court building, Torrance, as witnesses testified against the school for sales through fraudulent promises.

The witnesses claimed that they were associated with the school because of promises offered with the sale of accordions. They said that the company had promised auditions with Myron Floren, television star on the Lawrence Welk Program, if they would enroll with the school and buy extremely expensive accordions.

Floren, however, denied any association with the school.

Don Lackey, one of the victims, has threatened to attempt a recall of District Attorney William McKesson, saying the attorney failed to act promptly and effectively when notified about the suspicious activities of the school.

Less than 3% of the drivers involved in fatal or serious injury motor vehicle accidents are "new drivers," according to the Greater Los Angeles Chapter National Safety Council.
