AIRPORT MODEL—Those attending opening ceremonies of the "Powder Puff Derby" this weekend will see this model of the Torrance Airport, as created by Mrs. Maurine

Pool's class at Calle Mayor Elementary School. Admiring the exact scale models are two of the students, Sherry Ward and Patty Dias.

Students Display Miniature Airport for Derby Start

Visitors to the Torrance Airport for the "Powder Puff Derby" Saturday will probably see a scale model of the airport made by students at Calle Mayor Elementary School.

Students in Mrs. Maurine Pool's sixth and seventh grade class presented the airport model to Airport Manager Jack Egan for display during the derby, cross-country race from Torrance to Delaware.

The youngsters made the exact scale model of the airport during a study of aviation, weather, and global geography. They used their arithmetic to figure out the dimensions of the miniature fields, which were complete with all the buildings. Principal Myrl Rupel, a pilot himself, made arrangements for the youngsters to get the exact measurements.

Mrs. Pool arranged for the children to tie in concepts of math, science, social studies, and art in the one project.

'Young Indians' Perform Dances

Young Indians performed for their classmates at Hamilton Elementary School Friday during a special assembly.

Members of Keith Weideman's class demonstrated what they had studied about the civilizations of Indians of the Southwestern part of the United States. They presented typical dances of the era; and gave oral reports on what they had learned from the study.
