

Harbor College Offers Nighttime Spanish Courses

Intermediate Spanish I will be offered for the first time during the evening hours at Harbor College beginning Sept. 12, according to an announcement today by coordinator of extended day, Kenneth R. Williams.

Elementary Spanish I and II will continue to be offered by both day and evening sessions, and, in addition, intermediate Spanish II will be offered by the day college.

The evening class in elementary Spanish I will meet Wednesdays from 6 to 8 p.m. and Fridays from 6:30 to 9:30.

Elementary Spanish II and Intermediate Spanish I will meet Mondays from 6:30 to 9:30 and Wednesdays from 8 to 10 p.m. The instructor will be Helen Crone, linguist, interpreter, and translator.

Educated in Cuba, she has traveled widely, speaks five languages fluently, and has been a graduate student and instructor at the University of Southern California.

All classes will include fundamentals of Spanish pronunciation and grammar, the building of a practical vocabulary, and the development of the ability to read, write, and speak Spanish. All courses carry fully transferable credit to other colleges and universities.

Record, films, and other audio-visual aids will be used to promote conversational ability and class interest.

"For most Californians, Spanish is the most practical foreign language to study because of our traditions and customs and the proximity of Mexico. Increasing trade and cultural relations with Latin America lend added importance to Spanish, a tongue spoken by over 80,000,000 people," Williams pointed out.

New students who wish to register in Spanish or any of 200 other extended day classes could file an application for admission and a request for a registration permit at the college admissions office, and arrange for their previous high school and college transcripts to be mailed to Harbor College.

Currently enrolled and returning evening college students who have not already registered could file a request for a registration permit, which will be mailed to qualified applicants and indicate the date on which they should register.

Further information may be obtained by calling at the college, 1111 Figueroa Pl., Wilmington, or by telephoning TE 4-8581.

El Camino Grad Receives Highest Scientific Honors

Kenneth M. Ralls, former El Camino College student, received the highest science scholarship honor of the year recently at Stanford University.

Ralls was awarded the Sigma Xi award and initiated into the Stanford chapter of the international scientific society.

"Election to this society is a high honor in recognition of excellence in scientific scholarship and research," William T. Mooney Jr., assistant director of instruction at El Camino and a Stanford alumnus, noted.

Ralls attended El Camino College in the spring of 1956 and attained a straight "A" average for his first semester of college work. He transferred to Stanford in the fall of 1956 and graduated from that institution this year as an engineering major.

Ralls is a graduate of George Washington High School in Los Angeles, where he also did outstanding academic work.
