

What's New on Fall Television

By JOHN BARRY
Press TV Editor

First came "Have Gun, Will Travel," then "Dead or Alive," now we get word that versatile Scott Brady will star in another western on Channel 2, "Shotgun Slade."

Quickly running out of gimmicks and wild west situation plots, the producers of the new show have created an outdoor series that combines some of the best, and worst, ingredients of HGWT and DOA. Studio press agents tell us that this half-hour depicts the "reckless exploits of a rugged detective on horseback."

Instead of San Francisco as a home base, Scott operates out of Denver, Colorado, with the entire west as his beat. Complete with a sawed-off shotgun, Brady makes like Paladin. CBS drumbeaters haven't advised as to whether Scott wears a mustache, black-hat, and black shirt.

Look for an early kill of this series despite the fine talents of Scott Brady, who was a smash hit in the Broadway musical, "Destry Rides Again."

Vice Presidential candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge, will "Meet the Press" tonight on NBC at 6 p.m. Bombarding the questions will be Pauline Frederick of NBC News, Robert White of the New York Herald Tribune, Ernest K. Lindley of Newsweek Magazine and permanent panelist, Lawrence Spivak.

When this program was first seen several years ago it had the flavor of freshly baked bread. Viewed now, the show appears as an ordinary pre-packaged spice of life. The guest is seldom off guard, and the TV gazer feels cheated of spontaneity.

U. S. STEEL HOUR stars Cliff Robertson and Jeanne Crain in an unusual spy-thriller, "Then Man Who Knew Tomorrow," will be seen live on Channel 2, Wednesday, at 10 p.m. Robertson plays a writer of mystery and spy stories, while Miss Crain is seen as a desperate girl who begs Cliff to hide her from a group of spies.

SHAKESPEARE'S MACBETH, a two-hour color presentation, starring Maurice Evans and Judith Anderson, will be a highlight on the roster of classics, musical dramas and original dramatic works that will be seen during the 1960-61 season on Channel 4. Producer-director George Schaefer is boss-man of the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" series.
