Maxwell-Maloy Nuptials Pledged in Fall Ceremony

At the First Presbyterian Church in San Pedro, Sept. 10, in an afternoon ceremony, Miss Nancy Lou Maxwell became the bride of Harell Lee Maloy. Miss Maxwell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Maxwell, 1702 W. 244th St., Lomita. Harell Maloy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Maloy, 2005 Middlebrook Rd., Torrance.

For her wedding Nancy Lou Maxwell chose an Alfred Angelo original gown designed by Edith Vincent of white silk organza over white satin. The gown was princess style fashioned with a high V-neckline and long tapered sleeves. The skirt fell into a cathedral train.

Her cathedral length veil was held by a high regal crown of seed pearls and crystal drops. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums, white gardenias, stephanotis and colored with fall leaves.

Mrs. Robert Fenter, matron of honor, and the bridesmaids Miss Melodie Brennehan, Miss Laila Wilson, Miss Shirley Washburn, and Mrs. Sidney Smith wore identical gowns of white silk organza over white taffeta with gold satin cummerbunds and matching shoes. Their hats of velvet autumn leaves with brown veils were made by the bride. They carried bouquets of bronze and gold chrysanthemums with yellow and bronze pom poms.

Little Miss Valerie Allen wore a dress identical to the bridesmaids when she was flower girl for the ceremony.

Gene Smith carried the rings for the ceremony.

The best man was Larry Bryant and Michael Brennehan, Robert Fenter, Gene Jimines, and Frank Fisher Jr. were ushers.

Following the ceremony performed by Dr. G. Henry Green, a reception was held at the Assistance League Club House in San Pedro.

The new Mrs. Maloy graduated from Narbonne High School, Harbor Junior College, and Marinello's School of Cosmetology. She is a past honored queen of Job's Daughters, Lomita Bethel.

Maloy graduated from Torrance High School and attended El Camino College.
