Remove Stains While Fresh

Speed is the key to effective stain removal. An easy rule to remember about stains is that a fresh one is easier to remove than an old one.

Most household stains—such as fruit, scorch, grass and light mildew—yield to a special solution of heavy duty dry chlorine bleach and detergent. Step one is quickly rinse the stained area with cold water, then soak 5 to 15 minutes in a solution of 1/4 cup of dry chlorine bleach and one tablespoon detergent per quart of warm water. Always mix in a polyethylene plastic, glass, porcelain or enamel container. Rinse, and repeat if necessary. Colored fabrics, however, should be tested for color fastness before treating.

For more stubborn stains, products around the kitchen or in the medicine chest come in handy. Butter is useful for softening tar stains. It changes tar into grease which can then be removed with a commercial cleaning fluid. Boiling a rust stained area in milk helps take out the spot.
