

High Earnings Reported by Title Insurance

Ernest J. Loebbecke, president, this week reported earnings of Title Insurance and Trust Company for the year 1960 of $2.52 a share, of which $2.01 came from operations, 43 cents from investments and 8 cents from capital gains. This compares with earnings for 1959 of $3.16 per share, of which $2.53 came from operations, 39 cents from investments and 24 cents from capital gains. While the 1960 figures are unaudited, it is anticipated that there will be little, if any change in the final figures.

Loebbecke stated that while 1960 earnings are down, it should be remembered that real estate and lending activities were at an all time high in 1959. Thus, except for that peak year, the 1960 earnings were higher than for any other year in the company's history.

Charles Wellman New President of Glendale Federal

Charles A. Wellman has been elected president of Glendale Federal Savings and Loan Association, it was announced recently by J. E. Hoeft, founder and chairman of the board.

Wellman, formerly executive vice president of the association, succeeds Hoeft in the presidency. Hoeft will now devote full time activity to the duties of chairman of the board.

Wellman joined Glendale Federal in 1948 and has been a key figure in the savings and loan industry for many years.

Glendale Federal is the nation's fifth largest federal savings and loan association, with assets of nearly $350,000,000. The association has 10 offices serving the Greater Los Angeles area.

A nationally-known savings and loan executive, Wellman has been active in housing legislation on both the local and national levels. He is a chairman of the Legislative Committee for the National Savings and Loan League, and a member of the Legislative Committees for both the U.S. and California Savings and Loan Leagues.

Semester Awards For Harbor JC Students, Clubs

Semester awards to Harbor College students and clubs for outstanding scholarship and leadership were announced recently by Glenn G. Gooder, dean of student activities.

Named outstanding for scholastic achievement, and announced as winners of Associated Student Organization scholarships, are Beth Harrington, Carlene Mooneyham, Virginia Whitcomb, William Caswell, Leonard Caswell, James Tagami and John Wister.

Winners of other scholarship and leadership honors are Sonja I. Savar, woman of distinction award; Pat Ngohe, outstanding band member award; Kathleen McNeice, Lions Club scholarship and leadership award.

Eileen McNeice, Dennis Jackson, Ron Skyers and William Caswell, individual scholarship and leadership certificates; Dennis Jackson, Eileen McNeice and Kathleen McNeice, Associated Student Organization council member awards; Tom Orcher, ASO president's award; and Kathleen McNeice, Jim Serici, and William Caswell, ASO gavel awards.

Upsilon Nu Sigma, honorary organization for vocational nurses, has been named winner of both the Wilmington Jr. Chamber of Commerce trophy and the San Pedro Rotary Club plaque for being outstanding in scholarship and leadership among campus organizations.

Among athletic groups, "The Winners" have won the Intramural coed volleyball award.

New club charters for the spring semester will go to the Foreign Affairs Club, the Sports Car Club, and Tomorrow's Teachers.

Winners of individual and club awards were honored last week at a noon leadership - recognition assembly and reception, held in the campus outdoor theater and recreation area.
