Hans Conried, Faye Emerson Program Stars

Hans Conried and Faye Emerson will star in "The Oddball," a lighthearted story of one man's fight for the right not to work. The U.S. Steel Hour offering will be presented "live" on Wednesday, April 5, at 10 p.m., PST, via channel 2.

Written by Bernard Slade, "The Oddball" concerns Adam and Cathy Parker (Conried and Miss Emerson), a happily married couple with two children. A well-known television performer, Cathy enjoys having a career outside the home, while Adam has been unsuccessful throughout the years of their marriage, in the business world. Recently fired from a selling job, he suggests to Cathy that he remain home to cook, do housework, garden, repair, read and paint—as well as take care of the children—all of which he is happy when doing. Cathy agrees and the arrangement works perfectly until a newspaper reporter gets hold of the story. The resultant publicity and unfavorable public reaction threaten both the political career of Cathy's father and her own TV career, and cause embarrassment to the children among their friends. Determined not to give in to pressure, Adam sets out to find a solution satisfactory to all concerned.

"The Oddball" will be directed by Paul Bogart. The Steel Hour is produced by Kondolf, executive producer. The Theater Guild, George

NEW BOWLING SHOW

"Pin Busters," a competitive bowling show spotlighting the youth of Los Angeles, debuts as a regular weekly hour-long program on Saturday, April 15, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. on KCOP, Channel 13. The "live" show each week will feature young bowlers of Southern California and will emanate from different bowling lanes throughout the Los Angeles area. The participants will be divided into three groups: the Bantams (10-12), the Juniors (13-14) and the Seniors (15-17), with boys competing against boys and girls against girls.
