Aerospace Report

By MSgt. LaFevre; TSgt. Hetler

There are many ways to build a house, but all houses must have a solid foundation if they are to stand the rigors of time.

There are many ways to "build" a career, whether it be civilian or military and, like houses, careers must have a solid foundation if they are to succeed. Successful career foundations are based on education. Member of the U.S. Air Force have a golden opportunity to continue building their careers, whether they plan to remain in the Air Force or return to civilian pursuits.

The educational opportunities provided the "Airman" are numerous. If he wants to get a high school diploma, study a language, earn college credits, or improve his background in a particular subject, the courses are usually available no matter where they are stationed.

One such educational institution providing education opportunities to "Airmen" is the University of Maryland. It has a campus that extends over six million square miles and four continents. During one recent year, 20,000 military students were enrolled off-duty courses offered by the Maryland University.

Education in the Air Force is of two types, general and specific. The specific training must produce men able to operate the highly technical and complicated equipment of a modern "Aerospace Force." The general education must produce airmen who are competent in reading, writing, computing, reasoning, and thinking.

The horizons in both areas are unlimited as a member of the U.S. Air Force and it is with this thought in mind that your friendly Air Force Recruiters again encourage all interested persons to contact them for full particulars on their opportunities, either by visiting the USAF Recruiting Office at 1319 1/2 Sartori St., Torrance, or by calling FAirfax 8-1404.

Christian Science Lesson Sermon

Man's God-given freedom from sin and temptation will be explained at Christian Science services on Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Everlasting Punishment" is the Golden Text from Ezekiel (18:30): "Repent, and turn yourselves from all your transgressions: so iniquity shall not be your ruin."

Mary Baker Eddy explains in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "The likeness of God we lose sight of through sin, which beclouds the spiritual sense of Truth; and we realize this likeness only when we subdue sin and prove man's heritage, the liberty of the sons of God" (p. 315).

In his epistle to the Philippians Paul admonishes, "For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. Do all things with out murmurings and disputings: That ye may be blameless and harmless, and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world" (2:13-15).
