Envelopes Ready For Cancer Gifts

As an added service for local residents who want to make contributions to the American Cancer Society in memory of loved ones who have passed on, the local district office is offering special gift envelopes.

The envelopes incorporate a printed form on which all necessary information concerning the memorial can be recorded at the time the gift is made.

James J. Weigel, manager of Torrance Security-First National Bank, and Volunteer Crusade chairman of the district, said that the envelopes will be mailed to anyone who calls the society at OR 2-8148 requesting them. They may also write to the American Cancer Society office, 804 E. Manchester Blvd., Inglewood.

"Many people have told us that they like to keep one of these envelopes on hand," he said. "They are simple to fill out and assure the donor that his instructions will be accurately followed. Memorial notifications are sent out the day the information reaches our office."

The money is used in support of research, education, and service activities carried out by the society on a national scale.

The practice of making memorial contributions is growing every year, Weigel said.
