INTERESTING QUIPS ON AMERICA'S PASTIME

To most writers of sports and general news reading is like a hobby. Most time is consumed at the typewriter or at some interesting sport contest, however, when time becomes available the quest for knowledge comes to the front.

A New York writer referred to as Edward F. Murphy has written a piece entitled "Play Ball." It caught our fancy for the humorous, sometimes serious quips, from men in the know, about baseball within its covers. Space is limited, however, the following is selected for your enjoyment.

From A. G. Spalding: "Two hours is about as long as an American can wait for the close of a baseball game—or anything else, for that matter."

From Joe Garagiola: "Baseball gives you every chance to be great. Then it puts every pressure on you to prove that you haven't got what it takes. It never takes away the chance, and it never eases up on the pressure."

From Tommy Henrich: "Catching a fly ball is a pleasure but knowing what to do with it after you catch it is a business."

From Joe DiMaggio: "A ball player's got to be kept hungry to become a big leaguer. That's why no boy from a rich family ever made the big leagues."

Robert Benchley: "An ardent supporter of the hometown team should go to a game prepared to take offense, no matter what happens."

From Arthur Daley: "A baseball fan has the digestive apparatus of a billy goat. He can, and does, devour any set of diamond statistics with insatiable appetite and then nuzzles hungrily for more."

From Gil Hodges: "Shouting on the ball field never helped anyone except where it was one player calling to another to take the catch."

From James T. Farrell: "The comprehensibility of baseball is in sharp contrast with so much of the serious news of the day... it is a self-enclosed world of competition and action in which the emotions can have free play without the consequences of being dangerous."

From Joe McCarthy: "Any manager who can't get along with a 400 hitter is crazy."

From Russell Maloney: "Most males who don't care about big-league baseball conceal their indifference as carefully as they would conceal a laughable physical deficiency."

From Red Barber: "Whenever you have a tight situation and there's a close pitch, the umpire gets a squawk no matter how he calls it. You wonder why men want to take a job in which they get so much abuse."

From E. V. Lucas: "A boy who behaved well to an umpire would behave well to everyone."

From Lefty Gomez: "The secret of my success was clean living and a fast moving outfield."

From Frank Lane: "When we're away, the players stay in air-conditioned hotels and sleep from eight to twelve hours a day. But at home the kids get them up early in the morning, their wives send them shopping and they've got a thousand and one things to do."

From Casey Stengel: "If you're playing ball and thinking about managing, you're crazy. You'd be better off thinking about being an owner."

From Kin Hubbard: "Knowin' all about baseball is just about as profitable as bein' a good whittler."

Have you formed an opinion of baseball? A humorous slant perhaps or serious footnote? Then send it in to me... those selected will be published in a future column.

Babe Ruth Dodger Team Named Tourney Champs

The Babe Ruth Dodgers, champions at Del Amo Field, went all the way to defeat all teams entered in the Tournament of Champions held in Westchester Aug. 12 through 20. Fifteen teams from all parts of Southern California were entered. Seven members of this team were on the All Star team which won the Torrance All-City Babe Ruth Championship.

Capitalizing on a walk and an error followed by a sacrifice and a bunt, the Dodgers pushed the winning run across in the bottom of the seventh inning to win by a score of 1 to 0 in the finals, played Aug. 20 at Loyola Field. Both teams looked good; the Dodgers played errorless ball, while their opponents committed three errors. Each pitcher allowed three hits. The winning pitcher struck out eight and issued three bases on balls, while the losing pitcher struck out three and issued five bases on balls.

Following the game, first place trophies were awarded to Mike Blankenship, Ernie Clayton, Don Coil, Rod White, Mike Prichard, Duane Schaper, Douglas Schaper, Dearl Sturnacle, Carl Randall, Tommy Tibbens, Rod Lorenzen, Rex Dreher, Gary Fulton, Lloyd Gilstrap and Manager Joe Venable and Coaches Harry Theodosios and Pete White and Bat Boy John Randall.

Don Coil of the Torrance team was voted the most valuable player of this tournament and was presented with a trophy.

In this tournament, the Dodgers scored 10 runs on 11 hits and committed six errors, while all the opposition scored six runs on 11 hits and committed six errors.
