CD Officials Warn About Shelter Sales

In a statement issued this week civil defense officials warned the public to beware of unscrupulous practices by some fallout shelter promoters.

Joseph J. Rochefort, civil defense coordinator for Area G, said, "Unfortunately, a few individuals are taking advantage of the present situation to prey upon those wishing to build fallout shelter by high pressure selling methods."

Area G Planning Board, at its regular meeting Sept. 14, took note of this development, and urged that those desiring to obtain information on fallout shelter plans consult local civil defense offices or write to the Area Coordinator, P.O. Box 146, Redondo Beach.

Citizens were urged to check with their local building officials to insure that the plans are approved by building officials and that the firm has a license to do business in the city.

Brochures describing the Edison College Scholarship Program have been distributed to high schools throughout the 10-county area served by the company in Central and Southern California.

Students wanting to compete for the Edison Scholarship may learn full details by obtaining these brochures at their high schools, Blanchard pointed out.
