Torrance High Schools Hear Junior Achievement Speech

Students at Torrance South and North high schools learned how they can participate in the Junior Achievement "learn by doing" program at special assemblies this week. The assembly program was conducted by Manny Wise, J. A. District Manager in the Southwest Los Angeles area. Wise explained workings of Junior Achievement, pointing out the opportunities and advantages to participating teenagers.

The J. A. Manager was assisted by Bob Gilmore, of Ryan Aeronautical Co., at Torrance High; Ray Macomber of Space Technology Laboratories, at North High; Bob Gilmore, of Ryan Aeronautical Co., at South High.

Teen-agers who applied for membership at the conclusion of the programs will be eligible for awards, scholarships and special incentive prizes in the J. A. program.

Junior Achievement is a national business program of education which teaches teenagers about American business by giving them the chance to organize and operate small businesses of their own.

Special Junior Achievement assemblies already have been held at Bishop Montgomery, Mount Carmel, Aviation, Morningside, Lawndale, Inglewood, Junipero Serra, Leuzinger, El Segundo, and Hawthorne high schools.

Among southwest area business executives who have assisted during the assemblies have been: Paul Lelie, Virco Manufacturing; Richard Pryor, Western Airlines; Mal Boughen, Thompson Fiberglass; Gene Somerville, North American Aviation.
