Your Decorating Problems Answered
By BEN L. WALLACE, N.S.I.D.

Mr. Wallace: I have maple furniture in my home and I could probably use same help on accessories and finishing touches. I have called a couple of decorators and they refuse to decorate with maple. Is this characteristic of most decorators in that they don't like maple? Please comment.

Mrs. Thrush, Torrance: This is certainly not characteristic of most qualified decorators. However, all decorators most certainly have their likes and dislikes in decorating. I suggest you call on another decorator associated with a maple shoppe. Most of the better shops have this service available to you, by doing this you will be getting the services of some one definitely versed in your decor.

Mr. Wallace: I would like to redecorate my living room in contemporary but I have two antique chests that I would like to use in this room. I have been told that you cannot do this in contemporary. Would you please tell me what style I can use these chests in please?

Mrs. Frank Boat, Lomita: Do not be misled by someone telling you that you can't mix a little antique motif with contemporary because you very definitely can. If this is mixed selectively it can be a very striking accent to your room. Basically it adds a touch of elegance along with

Edison Puts On Anti-Smog Equipment
Southern California Edison Company this week became the first industrial firm to proceed with installation of anti-smog devices on its fleet of cars and trucks, in response to an appeal by S. Smith Griswold, Los Angeles County Air Pollution Control Officer on behalf of the County Board of Supervisors.

G. L. Blanchard, Edison district manager, announced that the utility would begin immediately to install the device recommended by the County Board of Supervisors to control crankcase emissions on the first 100 of its 2,600 cars and trucks.

RAN TESTS
"We have been running our own tests on the device insofar as maintenance is concerned," Blanchard stated, "and we have found its performance entirely satisfactory."

Supervisor Warren M. Dorn, chairman of the Air Pollution Control Committee of the Board, commended Edison for voluntarily installing the crankcase control system recommended by the Board of Supervisors. Dorn expressed the hope that other large fleet operators will follow Edison's example.

Before placing its stamp of approval on the "blowby" control, the APCD installed them on 94 cars and drove them a total of more than one and a half million miles, Griswold reported.

CARS EQUIPPED
New cars offered for sale throughout California already are being equipped with anti-smog devices, Griswold stated.

"The blowby device is not the complete answer to automobile smog — since we still have to lick the problem of exhaust emissions — but control of crankcase fumes is certainly an important step in the right direction," Griswold declared.

Blowby emissions are, for the most part, hydrocarbons from unburned gasoline which blow by the piston rings and are vented into the atmosphere.

new high style. Believe me it can be quite refreshing.

Mr. Wallace: In regards to using slip covers on furniture, would you give me a very frank answer on your opinion of them as for their decorative use.

Gladys Denks, Torrance: A very frank answer I shall give you. If you can't afford to recover the furniture this is at best second best. I personally don't care ever to use them.

Did you know that oak is the most common wood used for furniture construction? Note: Send your cards or letters to The Torrance Press, Care of Ben L. Wallace, N.S.I.D., 3238 Sepulveda Blvd., Torrance, Calif.

Hayden, Stone To Open Stock Exchange Office

Hayden, Stone & Co., members of New York, Pacific Coast and other leading securities and commodities exchanges, will open a new office Nov. 1, at 27777 Silver Spur Rd., Rolling Hills Estates.

This will be Hayden, Stone's eighth California office and its second on the Palos Verdes peninsula. Other California offices are in Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Brentwood, Sherman Oaks, Palos Verdes Estates, La Jolla and Visalia.

Mrs. Shirley R. Chilton, who has been manager of the Palos Verdes Estates office at 19 Malaga Cove Plaza, will become general manager of the two Peninsula offices and will make her headquarters in the new Rolling Hills Estates office, which will be located in the new 33-acre Peninsula Shopping Center.

Arne J. Huhta, who has been a senior account executive in the Palos Verdes Estates office, will become manager of that office. Huhta has been in the investment business since his graduation from college more than two decades ago.

The Rolling Hills Estates office will serve the Southern Peninsula including San Pedro, Wilmington, Rolling Hills, and Portuguese Bend. Clients and brokers will have up-to-the-minute quotations and financial news through Translux projections of the moving tapes of the New York and American exchanges, augmented by the Dow Jones News Service and Quotron, the electronic "miracle memory" machine which places last and representative "scan" quotes at one's fingertips.

Starting personnel at the new office includes G. William Booth, Bruce A. Andrews, Mark F. Sanders and Edward J. Bonville, Jr. This staff will be expanded. All California offices of Hayden, Stone & Co. are under the direction of three general partners: Charles T. Jawetz, Brentwood; Lloyd C. Young, Los Angeles; and Joseph A. Field, Jr., Sherman Oaks.

Design Engineer Named at STL

Space Technology Laboratories, Inc., has announced appointment of Nicholas M. Stefano of Rolling Hills Estates as project design engineer for the Minuteman ICBM weapon system in the STL mechanics division.

In his new role, Stefano is also responsible for handling matters concerning Minuteman in STL's systems research and analysis division and the fabrication integration and test division.

He succeeds Harold Hirsch, who was recently appointed director of the F.I.T. Division at STL. Stefano is a graduate of the Cooper Union Institution of Technology, New York City, where he received his B.S. degree in mechanical engineering. Prior to joining STL, he was with Fairchild's aircraft and missiles division, Hagerstown, Md. He is a member of the American Helicopter Society and the Institute of Aerospace Science.

Married and the father of two sons, Stefano resides at 4605 Sugarhill Dr., Rolling Hills Estates.
