Holiday Baking Is An Art

Of all the preparations to be made in the rushed weeks just before Christmas, perhaps the most enjoyable is holiday baking. Fragrant aromas drift from the kitchen throughout the house, adding to the anticipation and excitement in the air. Although baking at any time of the year is certainly a skill, it also becomes an art at holiday time, when feminine talents and creativity can be explored to the fullest extent. Women everywhere will be experimenting with the wonderful new recipes introduced this season, as well as their own personal collections of traditional family favorites handed down from generation to generation.

Whether it be holiday cakes, cookies, or candies, chances are that you'll be baking something this season. Keep some of these Christmas treats on hand for drop-in visitors, and send others to friends and neighbors as hospitality gifts.

To wrap baked foods for gifts, or simply to keep them fresh for use in your own home, there's nothing like transparent household saran. This clear, plastic wrap shows your handiwork with real sparkle and protects it at the same time.

This season, try baking individual fruitcakes in muffin tins. After cooling, wrap the miniature cakes in plastic wrap and tie with a perky bow for clever individual gifts. For a "cookie candle," assemble a five-inch stack of large, round cookies. Wrap tightly in transparent saran, securing top and bottom with tape. A small piece of the wrap colored red with a crayon makes the candle flame. Add a few Christmas baubles or other decorations to your holiday wrapped goodies, and you have a handsome gift just begging to be given!

New Hotel Follows International Theme

A new approach to pleasure and business accommodations will be presented when the Pen & Quill Hotel in Manhattan Beach is formally unveiled in mid-January.

Bob Reuben, president, reports that construction is progressing on schedule on the $2,000,000 project.

In keeping with its catchphrase, "where world travelers meet," the suites will be named after their international decor: Oriental, Nordic, Caribbean, Mediterranean, Pacific and European.

The facade is being constructed of black marble and glass, while the basic interior color scheme will be gold, black and orange.

200 Rooms
The three-story, 200-room hotel is being insulated with lightweight concrete and fiberglass. Individual wall-mounted light controls are being installed.

Another new concept in guest convenience is a newly developed communication control and message-waiting interphone system.

Reuben reveals that material from a dozen countries is being used in construction, including tiles from Japan, marble from Italy and mahogany imported from Honduras.

Multi-colored lights will illuminate the 3000 sq. ft. swimming pool.

The overhead promenade, bringing the street to connect the hotel with the Pen & Quill Restaurant, will be 110 feet long and 20 feet wide.

"More steel is being used in this promenade," divulges Reuben, "than used in the freeway bridges!"

World Theme
