Conference to Be Attended by Young Members of Adventists

Youth members of the Torrance Seventh-Day Adventist Church will attend a three-day, Southland-wide religious youth crusade in Los Angeles Jan. 25-27.

Glenn Goffar, pastor of the local church, said teen-age members of his church will join some 3000 other Adventist young people from Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Ventura counties at the crusade being held at White Memorial Adventist Church, 420 N. Bailey St., Los Angeles.

Pastor Goffar said Dr. Charles E. Wittschiede, professor of education at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Mich., will be the crusade's featured speaker. Also participating will be choral groups of Seventh-day Adventist academies throughout Southern California.

Theme of the crusade, according to Pastor Goffar, is "Let Christ Be Lord."

"This theme is a challenge to the young members of Torrance Adventist Church, as well as to teen-agers throughout our nation," said Pastor Goffar.

"The future of our nation rests in the acceptance by the country's young people of the fact that without Christ's direction in the life this nation shall not long endure."
