BANJO KING—Headlining the attractions at Marineland Restaurant on the Palos Verdes peninsula this week is all-time king of the banjo, Eddie Peabody. He has been signed for a special two-week engagement by restaurant owner George M. Foster.

Peabody Opens In Porpoise Room This Week

Eddie Peabody, the all-time king of the banjo, this week opened at the Marineland Restaurant on the Palos Verdes peninsula, marking his initial engagement in the cliff-side dining establishment.

One of America's renowned troupers, a musical legend to many fans, Peabody is appearing nightly except Mondays with his group in the "Porpoise Room," having been signed by owner George M. Foster for a special two-week engagement.

HEADLINER
 Peabody has been a headliner for more than 20 years and his stringed instrument has taken him around the world. He traveled 125,000 miles during World War II to present 786 shows for servicemen in foxholes, Pacific atolls, hospital planes and navy subs.

Since the demise of the banjo as a modern dance band instrument, replaced by the guitar, few banjo players have survived in the entertainment field. But the success and popularity of Peabody never waned, and his name today, as it was back in vaudeville, is synonymous with the banjo.

Nobody else gets more music and fun out of it than Marineland Restaurant's current star attraction!

Applications for free enrollment will be accepted until Feb. 16, 1962. For information about the course or to enroll, write Harbor General Hospital, 1124 W. Carson St., Torrance, or telephone SP 5-2201.

Season for Crepes
 Rainy sheer wool crepes stand out importantly in dress fabrics and include some new cloud-light weights both in plains and fancies this fashion season. Among the latter are "see-through" houndstooth checks, gien plaids, small plaid-within-plaid designs, mono-tones with regular or broken plaids formed with white yarns of irregular size.

A charming weave similar to "kasha" is a newcomer with a future. Also new is a group of very light weight woads in stripes, checks, plaids and self or two-tone fine stripes that combine well with the fancier weaves. Quite crisp and impervious to wrinkles it is liked both for dresses and costumes, especially for travel.

Democrats of Torrance Hear Professor Speak

CONTRIBUTIONS
 President David Rockefeller of The Chase Manhattan Bank states: "Our success in this huge effort to expand the economies of the Free World will depend in the final analysis on the contribution of private business. While it is currently fashionable to characterize Western economies as 'mixed,' it is sometimes forgotten that the mixture consists of four-fifths private enterprise and around one-fifth government. The Free World's private businesses are producing goods and services at an annual rate of more than $700 billion, at least double the total production of the Communist bloc where state enterprise is all-encompassing."
