Shakespearean Comedy Presented by Students of El Camino College

"Taming of the Shrew," a Shakespearean comedy, is scheduled to open at 8:30 p. m. March 23, 24, 30 and 31 in El Camino Campus Theater.

Directed by Instructor Howard Banks, the play dramatizes the curbing of a curt woman so that she best serve in the partnership of marriage.

"Kathrina," Banks said, "doesn't see herself as others see her, and it is toward this that her husband Petruchio works. He mimics her rude manners and unreasonableness to show her what a fool she is being. She finally realizes her foolhardiness and says, 'And be the moon or the sun, or what you please, henceforth it shall be so.'"

WIFELY DUTIES
Portraying the part of Kate, Rita Mackey "delights" in her speech on "wifely duties."

"Audiences have howled over it for centuries," Miss Mackey said.

Drawing her experience from such plays as "The Women," in which she played the part of Sylvia, Miss Mackey has "stepped from one production to the other" into the part of Kathrina.

Author and director of the play, "Dark Stage," which recently appeared in the In-Somniac Coffee House, is Stephen De France as Petruchio.

Baptista will be played by Clint Jones, Bianca by Carol Stuppler and Lucentio by David Pritchard.

VIE FOR HAND
Vying for the hand of Kathrina's sister, Bianca, will be Lee McLaughlin as Gremio and Ed Crosby as Hortensio.

Ken May as Biondello and Noel Shire as Tranio will wait upon the every need of Lucentio as his faithful servants. Lucentio is played by Dave Pritchard.

With his marriage to the wealthy Kathrina, Petruchio can afford to match and better the "Joneses" and "Lucentios." Paul Wilkening as Grumio, Gail Wilkins as Curtis, Robin Meyer as Nathaniel, Stan Mandel as Nicholas, Roy Benjamin as Philip and Jim Willas as Sugarsop, play the parts of Petruchio's many servants.

Other members of the cast include Paul Ferrara, Christopher Sly, Mary Ann Frey, Shirley Turk, Doug Darnell, Tony Di Fraia, William Cross, Tesse Finker, Saralee Murma, Jeanette Cato, Isabel Baratucchi and Joe Silver.

Footlight Presents Play, 'The Bad Seed'

Footlight Theatre is presenting "The Bad Seed" in the round at the Torrance Plunge, 3331 Torrance Blvd., March 16, 17, 23, and 24. Curtain time is 8:30.

The play by Maxwell Anerson is a moving drama about a sweet and evil small girl, Rhoda Penmark, played alternately by Dorinda Hanson and Signe Merrifield. On the surface, 9-year-old Rhoda appears to be a sweet and charming child, loved by her parents and elders. But here mother has an uneasy feeling about her. When one of Rhoda's schoolmates is mysteriously drowned at a picnic, Mrs. Penmark is alarmed. For the boy who was drowned was the one who had won the penmanship medal that Rhoda felt she deserved.

INHERITED?
The play involves the psychology of crime, whether or not the impulse for murder can be inherited. Jenny Lou Pelz plays the mother who takes the responsibility for her daughter's guilt, continues to love her daughter and tries desperately and selflessly to administer justice to everyone. Herman Boodman is directing the play.

Others in the cast include David Wesson, the father; Connie Hauser, the well-meaning neighbor; Arnold Rosenfeld, a nasty hired man; Evelyn Jones, the bitter, drunken mother of one of the child's victims; and Sid Ellison, the Grandfather; Jim Claxton, Jack Cowger, Pete Merisola, Bill Kamper, and Pat Perry. plan for training and rehabilitation instead of direct relief for the handicapped. It pointed out that gift-supported programs are "people-supported rather than tax-supported and it is up to the public to decide which way it wants to help."

"Either way, the emphasis these days is on training the handicapped to become useful tax-payers in their communities and not tax spenders," Price said.

Training of Handicapped Undertaken

Mrs. Daniel M. Brown, 28021 Matfield Drive, Torrance, a member of the Board of Governors of United Cerebral Palsy Association of Los Angeles County, has received a special report from Harrison A. Price, president.

The report stated that multiple handicapped adults, in many lines of work, generally make better employees than people without physical handicaps. It called for renewed effort to inform business people about the ability of trained cerebral palsied adults to perform assignments in industry. Skills specially named were drill press, soldering and electronic assembly.

TRAINING
"United Cerebral Palsy provides training for the cerebral palsied at a work shop which simulates actual work conditions. Ninety percent of the trained personnel are placed in jobs for which they are as capable as other people," Price said.

"Studies reveal that cerebral palsied employees have a better than average safety, attendance, and punctuality record. And they concentrate more on what they are doing," according to Price.

The report expressed approval of the general concept of President Kennedy's
