

PAST AND FUTURE are shown in the site plan of El Camino College, which is asking approval of a continuance of its unique pay-as-you-go plan in June 5 elections. Now enrolling nearly 12,000 students, the college anticipates a registration of 15,750 by 1970.

'Pay-as-You-Go' Schedule For New ECC Construction

"Continued enrollment demands reflecting the growth of college and community necessitate additional construction at El Camino College," Jack Dabbs, president of the Board of Trustees, concluded today.

"Nationally, and specifically in California, the two-year college is receiving tremendous emphasis in future planning for higher education," the Board president said in urging the El Camino College Junior College District to support the June 5 proposal to continue the present plan of financing for continued college growth and operation.

JACK DABBS

Pointing out the importance of junior colleges in the Master Plan of education throughout California, Dabbs noted that approximately 50,000 freshman and sophomore students will be diverted from university and state college campuses to Junior Colleges by 1975.

Outlines college needs to 10:30 p.m. daily. With the inception of a new program this summer, classes will be in session on the campus for all but three weeks of the year.

Of the total undergraduate enrollment of 37,461 students on the seven campuses of the University of California at the present time, approximately 10,000 are transfer students from state junior colleges. These transfers, universally, transcripts demonstrate, have scholastic records fully comparable with those of students who took their first collegiate work at the University.

Now observing its 15th anniversary of service to the community, El Camino College is established on a unique "pay-as-you-go" plan of financing, which has provided college education without bonded indebtedness or interest charges to residents of the district.

FACILITIES

To provide adequate facilities for the continuing influx of students, El Camino College, which has grown from a 1946 enrollment of 282 students to a current enrollment approaching 12,000, must have additional classroom space, the board president emphasized.

"Approval of the provision to continue the present tax for five years will assure a continuation of outstanding educational service without curtailment of interruption," President Dabbs noted.

Among needed additions to the campus are classrooms for accounting, typing, shorthand, arts, crafts and graphic arts, music, physical education, mathematics and engineering. Other facilities which will be constructed pending passage of the current proposition are music rehearsal rooms, practice rooms and storage area, an auditorium, a men's gymnasium, additional shower and locker space, additional seating in the college stadium, engineering laboratories, technical and vocational facilities, administrative and student service facilities, including added provisions for registration, counseling and parking.

"El Camino College, in its brief history of 15 years, has risen to one of the top 10 community colleges of the nation and is considered a leader in almost every phase of community college education," the board president concluded.

In addition to serving the student enrollment on campus, a number of the proposed additions would also be utilized for community functions. Already in frequent use by high schools and youth, civic, service and other community groups are such college facilities as the stadium, Campus Center, Campus Theater, and athletic fields.

Dabbs is a resident of Torrance. Other lay leaders on the Board are Foster A. Day, Redondo Beach; Seymour Rayor, Inglewood; Dr. Wallace Fraser, Hawthorne, and Hilaris C. Ashley, El Segundo.

Throughout the summer months, the college pools accommodate more than 1000 persons per day in an intensive community swimming instructional program. Recreational swimming is also a feature of the college pools throughout the year.
