

Food Giant Markets Give Power Mowers

Almost everyone finds yard and lawn work a chore. That's why area Food Giant Markets are giving away 44 famous King O'Lawn Power Edgers absolutely free, in a giant drawing to be held at each store.

Anyone with a home and a lawn will find the King O'Lawn Power Edger an invaluable aid in keeping the lawn trimmed and neat. Powered by a 2 horsepower Briggs & Stratton Engine, the junior model edger can be adjusted to different trimming heights and easily trims around walls, trees, under fences and around odd-shaped flower beds.

Anyone may enter the drawing and everyone has an equal opportunity to win. Customers may simply deposit their name and address on the back of a Food Giant register receipt and leave it in a convenient entry box. That's all there is to it.

A separate drawing will be held at each of the 44 Food Giant Markets and so there will be one winner at every store.

Drawings for the 44 King O'Lawn Power Edgers will be held on Monday, June 4 at each store. No purchase is required to enter, so customers may enter often. Winners need not be present at the drawings as they will be notified.

Summer Art Classes Set in Palos Verdes

Summer Art Classes in watercolor, land and seascape, sculpture, life-drawing and folk guitar will begin in the Palos Verdes Community Arts Workshop in Lunada Bay on June 18.

Both beginning and experienced artists will be taught by such outstanding talent as Robert Frame, winner of over twenty-five purchase prizes, and teacher at Otis Art Institute and Pasadena Museum; Virginia Koshay, long-time teacher in the Santa Monica-Westwood area; Rosemary Dumas, noted sculptress; and Byron Rodarmel of Otis Institute.

CP Volunteers Redouble Efforts

Hundreds of volunteers for United Cerebral Palsy's May drive in this area will redouble their efforts prior to June 1, with a corps of workers planning last-minute house calls.

"But even the final effort may not reach every resident," said Torrance chairman, Mrs. William A. Huber, 5408 Rockview.

"Please, if a USP volunteer doesn't find you at home, telephone me at FR 5-2947 and we'll be happy to stop by," said the chairman.

Contributions can also be sent by mail, addressed to Palsy, 1726 West Pico Blvd., Los Angeles 15.

Proceeds will be used to raise the 17,000 cerebral palsied children and adults in Los Angeles County. The goal is $300,000.

Torrance Doctor Named to Board

Dr. Fred Smith, Jr., 1219 Cranbrook, Torrance, has been appointed to the National Kidney Disease Foundation scientific advisory council.

The council, composed of 24 Southland doctors, sets medical policies for the foundation's Southern California chapter, according to Dr. Morton H. Maxwell, UCLA Medical Center, council chairman.

Founded in 1954, the chapter sponsors a program of community education, patient aid and research. This year the chapter allocated $16,100 for research seeking the cause and cure of kidney diseases.

Pool Safety Pointers Offered by Red Cross

- This school term may be nearly over, but "school's never out on safety around the home," the American Red Cross said today.
- "This is particularly true if you have a home swimming pool," said Walter West, volunteer chairman of the Safety Services committee of Torrance-Lomita Branch, American National Red Cross.
- "The private swimming pool adds healthy physical fun to a family's summertime recreation, but it is also a great responsibility," West said. He offered the following points on which the householder can test himself as owner of a safe home swimming pool:
1. Is the pool fenced in, with an adequate padlock on the gate? This is desirable in all instances; essential if small children have access to the pool.
  2. What is the paving material surrounding the pool? It should be as slipproof as possible.
  3. Are the shallow and deep sections of the pool clearly separated by a buoyed line? This is necessary if it is used by weak swimmers and non-swimmers.
  4. Do you enforce the rule that no one should swim alone? One should always swim with a companion.
  5. Is there supervision for small children at all times? This is a safety "must."
  6. Do you discourage running and horseplay around the pool? Boisterous behavior can lead to painful accidents and sometimes tragedy.
  7. Do all users of your pool know or are learning how to swim? The local Red Cross chapter can help solve this problem with its free swimming course.
  8. If the water in your pool is deep enough for diving, is the diving board properly placed for the greatest safety?
  9. Do you enforce the rule of "no swimming under the diving board?" Collisions of human bodies in the water can be painful.
  10. Do you keep all swimmers out of the pool during storms? Water is a conductor of lightning.
  11. Is there some provision for shade so pool users can get respite from the sun? Beach umbrellas will do the trick.
  12. Are swimmers kept out of the water at least an hour after eating? Swimming too soon after a meal may lead to cramps.
  13. Do you discourage swimming soon after drinking? Excessive drinking followed by swimming may result in a fatality.
  14. Do you keep the pool area clear of glassware? Broken glasses and bottles are accident hazards.
  15. Do you have rescue devices, such as reaching poles or ring buoys close at hand? They may be essential in saving a swimmer in trouble.
  16. Do you keep a first aid kit near the pool? It may come in handy, too.
  17. Can at least one member of your family administer artificial respiration? It could mean the difference between life and death for someone.
- If you can answer most of these questions in the affirmative, yours is a safe pool, Mr. West said.
- He gave one final recommendation: Make sure the pool conforms to good sanitary practice and the regulations for this purpose established by the local health department.

CASH AWARD WINNERS—Students from high schools in this area won cash awards in the final event of Bank of America Achievement Awards for their division. # Enlistees Accepted Now in Coast Guard

Young men who can qualify may now enlist in the U.S. Coast Guard without having to be placed on a waiting list. Senior Chief Radarman H. T. Collins, Officer in charge, GG recruiting station Long Beach, said today.

"Prior to this time applicants have had an average three months wait before their enlistment could be effected," Collins said.

Enlistees undergo their basic training at Coast Guard Base, Alameda, Calif., and are then assigned to one of the Coast Guard ships or stations throughout the world. New coastguardsmen who can qualify may be assigned to one of the many advanced training schools available.

Openings are also immediately available for the enlistment of former Coast

Guard and Navy Petty Officers who were radiomen, sonar-men, electronics technicians, quartermasters or fire control technicians. "These men will be enlisted in their former pay grade, and will be immediately assigned to either a ship or station. Ex-chief Petty Officers in these ratings will be enlisted as first class petty officers," he said.

In addition to the regular four-year enlistment open to former petty officers, the Coast Guard offers an inactive reserve enlistment for Petty Officers of any rate. These men or women may be enlisted in the Coast Guard Reserve in their old pay grade or higher, depending upon their civilian qualifications.

The Coast Guard recruiting station is located in room 104, Times Building, 215

Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach. The recruiting office may be phoned at HEMlock 7-7434.
