CF Foundation Names Women's Volunteer Head

Actress Donna Reed has been named National Volunteer Women's chairman for the 1962 Cystic Fibrosis campaign, according to Robert L. Natal, president of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Natal announced that Miss Reed was selected to serve in this capacity because she typifies — both in real life (as Mrs. Tony Owen, the mother of two) and in the "Donna Reed Show" — mothers throughout the nation who are awaiting the stork.

Such research and study has already lengthened the lives of some of the approximately 20,000 to 25,000 children in the United States afflicted with Cystic Fibrosis.

Miss Reed will head volunteer committees in all parts of the country, in their task of raising funds to sponsor research and study on the disease.
