THEY ALSO SERVE — Girl Scout Michele Pecarovich of Troop 333 meets a group of grownups who like Michele, work for Community Chest. They are (l-r) Charles E. Stacks of Franklin Life Insurance Co., recruited by Division Chairman B. F. Stevens of St. Lawrence Martyr Catholic Parish. Co-chairman is her husband, B. F. Stevens, also of Franklin Life. Menfolk will help cover booming business sections in Waleria and Rolling Hills Plaza. Picture locale is a Newberry window donated for a Red Feather display by Manager R. L. Gardner.

New Officers Open Meeting Of Area Toastmasters Club

South Bay Toastmasters Club of Redondo Beach sounded the "Come To Order" gavel recently marking the initial program under guidance of newly installed officers.

The impromptu speaking program was led by Table Topics Master of the evening, Don Payne, with the topic being "Nov. 6, Election Day." The best impromptu speaker of the evening by vote was Carl Waggoner of Torrance. His topic was "Proposition E."

The formal speaking program was conducted by Toastmaster of the Evening, Bob Dreizler. Dreizler had an outstanding group of speakers on his program. Included in this group was the guest speaker of the evening, Herman Matthew of Palos Verdes. Matthew is an electronics engineer and member of the Westchester Toastmasters Club 1004. He presented a humorous speech on the "Scientific Approach for the Removal of Peanut Butter From Your Palate."

Don Edwards presented a unique speech about his unusual and unpredictable mode of transportation, "Isabella."

Dr. W. Labit expressed his views politically in his speech entitled "On Guard." How the "Wasteland of TV" can become an "oasis" was the highlight of a speech given by Tom Eadie of Hollywood Riveira.

Preparing for Nov. 6 was the caption of "Spud" Monahan's speech for the evening. Immediate past president of club 280, James McDonald, presented the trophy winning speech of the evening entitled "Cuba—a Cancer in Our Western Hemisphere." Tom Eadie was runner-up in the formal speaking program.

Employment Department Sets Schedule

Torrance office of the department of Employment on Nov. 12 will begin a new schedule for persons reporting for unemployment benefits. According to Murray W. Love, manager.

The rapid population growth in California has resulted in an increased work load for the Department of Employment Offices, Love said. In order to more efficiently serve the public, this new scheduling system has been developed.

Love said the new schedule will result in a changed report day for most claimants. However, the new scheduling system will enable the department to provide better and faster service for those reporting to claim unemployment insurance benefits, he said.
