Honey Orange Rolls Add Joy to Easter Breakfast

Easter is a richly traditional time, one of our deeply religious days. It is a time of awakening, as all Nature smiles with its approach. It is a joyous time of year with Spring ready to step in.

From the earliest sunrise service, to the Easter Sunday dinner, it is a special time, when the family gets together and the day is bright with music, flowers, food and grateful hearts.

Breads have a way of adding an extra special touch to any meal. They add glamour to the morning, noon, or night meal, and how well they fit into that something very special which is often planned for Easter breakfast. After early services at Church or in the open, by lake or on a hilltop, appetites are keen, and ready for the surprises that may be ready for young and old alike. Hot rolls for breakfast fit into the day's treats but honey orange rolls offer the extra surprise flavor that cannot be resisted. Let's double the recipe and make every one happy with an extra share. Besides being tasty in or on foods, honey has in limited quantities, all of the important constituents of the Vitamin B complex, Vitamin C, some hormones, and amino acid. Honey is a safe food. For a special Easter treat, serve:

- HONEY ORANGE ROLLS
1 tablespoon orange juice
2 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup strained honey
1/4 cup butter
2 cups prepared biscuit mix (or 1 biscuit recipe
