

Kiddies-Can-Do-It By Uncle Cobb Smith

WHEN IS A GLASS FULL?
 Have Someone
 Fill a Glass (as Full of Water as it can be filled) without Running it over.

Then very carefully
 stuff corks, combs
 and pins into the glass.
 You'll be surprised at how many the glass will hold before the water will come over the brim.

THIS will show that a full glass can be made fuller. The more pins and combs of different kinds you use, the better the trick will be. Don't forget to be careful when you drop the objects into the glass.

WORKING OUT in earnest are El Camino College lettermen, who head the 1963 Warrior contingency of 90 grid aspirants. Linemen Don Claxton, North High; Tim Whipple, El Segundo; Tom Frame, and Doug Minner, Morningside; John Iacono, Mount Carmel; Ronnie Bass, Morningside, and Mike Hanchett, North, are backed by veterans Jim Reale, Hawthorne; Jim Dutton, Inglewood; Ralph Hughes, Lawndale, and Paul Carmichael, Inglewood. Rounding out lettering returnees are Serra's Tom Tihelic, Lawndale's Glen Howell, and Ohio's Gary Wetzel. Coach Ken Swearingen has not resorted to tricky uniform assignments for the coming year; an ample supply of "20's" (sporting by Reale, Hughes and Carmichael) is on hand.

El Camino Ready For Season With Unveiling Of Backfield

Who said the rich get richer? After the first two weeks of twice-a-day practice sessions, Swearingen has expressed pleasure with his squad's ability, spirit and game know-how.

The second-year head coach has been high on two promising freshmen candidates, tackle Rick Cooper of Hawthorne and quarterback Pat Pagett of El Segundo, and believes his team should do "all right" during the Metropolitan Conference flag chase.

The return of all-conference end Herb Hinsche has helped matters to the extent Swearingen can rightfully boast one of the circuit's finest one-two pass receiving combinations in Hinsche and flanker Pat Lininger.

Hinsche, a graduate of Morningside High School, had intended to transfer to the University of Washington following the spring semester of 1963. He did, but after one week on the Huskie campus, Hinsche decided to return to continue his education at El Camino.

A tentative backfield should find Pagett at quarterback, Redondo's Jon Fowler at wingback, veteran Jim Dutton at fullback and shifty Jim Reale in the halfback slot.

Swearingen will have Jon Iacono and Doug Minner at offensive guards, both veterans, with Cooper and Lindsay Hughes of El Segundo scheduled to open at tackle and center, respectively. The right tackle position is "up for grabs," according to Swearingen.

Angels, Indians Open Three Game Set Tonight At Chavez

Perhaps the biggest weekend from a fan's standpoint comes up this weekend as the Los Angeles Angels host the Cleveland Indians in a three-game series starting tonight (Friday) at Chavez Ravine at 8:00 P.M. A ladies Night game starting at 5:00 P.M. is on tap tomorrow (Saturday) with the series winding up on Sunday at 1:30 P.M., when it will be Senior Citizens Day — and Prize Day, with 30 prizes valued over $10,000 being given away.

Fred Newman (1-5) is the Angel probable for tonight, with Jim "Mudcat" Grant (10-14) the probable starter for Cleveland. Dean Chance (11-17), who will pitch tomorrow (Saturday) night, shutout the Indians the last time he faced them, 11-0, on two hits. Before tonight's (Friday) game, the National Champion Peterson American Legion Post No. 27 of Long Beach will be honored by the Angels.

Tonight (Friday) is Angels "Perfect Photo" Camera Night. Fans will be permitted on the field for 45 minutes starting at 6:45 P.M. to snap pictures of their favorite Angel players. Art Linkletter, famed television personality and emcee, will be on hand for the shutterbugs. He also will throw out the first ball.

For the best picture there are three first prizes consisting of a complete home movie set, Kodak movie camera, light bar, projector, projection screen and five rolls of Perfect 8mm color movie film with processing by Perfect Photo, Inc.; three second prizes of Keystone 8mm cameras and Sylvania Sun Gun combination with three rolls of Perfect 8mm color movie film with processing by Perfect Photo, Inc. Many other prizes also will be awarded for "best pictures."

Sunday is the Angels' third annual Prize Day, with top prize a 1963 Chevrolet Corvair from the Southern California Chevrolet Dealers.

This is the next-to-last series of the year here for the Angels. After an off-day on Monday, they host the Baltimore Orioles in a three game series — a two-nighter on Tuesday with a single night game finale on Wednesday. This will close out the 1963 home season for the Angels.

The Angels and Indians are even-up on the year — 6-6, with a 3-3 count in each park. Cleveland is still within bailing distance for the Angels, so a series win for Bill Rigney's crew is vital at this time.

Both clubs have been strengthened since they last met. The Angels roster has been increased by eight men — and all of them have seen action since returning. They are pitchers Bo Belinsky, Mel Nelson, Aubrey Gatewood and Bob Duliba,

Among the new professional faces on hand will be three players the Blades obtained from the Chicago Black Hawks for Defenseman Lloyd Haddon in an off-season trade. They are Centers Norm Johnson and Gordon Vejpavra and Right Wing Ron Leopold.

Twice-daily workouts will begin Monday and will continue through the training

SURFING MEMBERSHIP DOUBLES

Total 1963 memberships in the United States Surfing Association now exceed the 2900 mark, more than double last year's total at this same time, reports L. E. Swarts, U.S.S.A. president.

"It has been very gratifying to see the sport of surfing grow to its present popularity over the last few years, and to know that the Association's efforts to serve this sport have been justified," Swarts added.

Summer memberships have been pouring into the Association's office at the rate of nearly 20 a day from surfers of all ages around the world.

Members' ages range from the youngest at 8 to the Association's senior member who is 65.

The United States Surfing Association was founded as a non-profit organization for the betterment of the sport by a group of dedicated surfers in the summer of 1961. Over the last two years, its ranks have swelled with far-flung surfers everywhere. While Southern California has been the leader in the recent growth of the sport, U.S.S.A. members are to be found from the Eastern Seaboard to Hawaii, England, Australia, and even from the Midwest.

The Blades open the Western League season at San Francisco Friday, October 11, and make their first Los Angeles appearance, against the Seals, at Sports Arena Tuesday, October 15.

Three Blades — Forwards Bob Solinger, Leo LaBine and Bruce Carmichael — have been selected on the WHL All Star team which will face the Maple Leafs at Vancouver Sunday, Sept. 29.

Way Out West

LAW OF THE GUN

Billy the Kid, the old west's most famous desperado, once got a special lease on life because a sheriff had good manners. Sheriff Fred Sutton could have shot Billy but didn't because The Kid's back was turned. Another lawman finally gunned Billy down — after he'd killed 21 men.

A fool and his life were soon parted in Billy's days. A coroner decided one lead-filled victim had committed "suicide" because he tried to shoot to death a man armed with a rifle at a distance of 150 yards.

The age of the gunslinger is gone, but there's still plenty of excitement in the west. Sky King often straps on a safety belt instead of a six shooter, flies a plane for skyborne adventures on his action-packed TV show. K
