Tomato Salad Enhances Meal

Red ripe tomatoes offer an abundance of refreshing, flavorful eating and fine food values. They're most tempting served raw, just as fresh as you can get them, in cool salads.

Tomato salads can be as varied as you wish. Served alone or with greens, they enhance any lunch or dinner as an accompaniment. Stuffed with hearty fillings they may be featured as the main attraction for lunch or a warm weather dinner.

Stuffed Tomato Salad
The tomatoes may be peeled or not, according to preference. To peel the tomato insert a fork in the stem end and swirl it over a gas flame until the skin blisters and peels easily.

Cut out the stem and core of the tomatoes. Chill. When ready to use, cut partly through the tomato so it opens out to form "petals." Or cut off a "hat" (about 1/4 to 1/2" from top of tomato) and scoop out inside; mix the meaty insides, chopped, with fillings. If the latter method is used the tomato is easiest to handle if it is unpeeled—the peeling adds strength while the inside is being scooped. Place tomato in lettuce cup and fill center with one of the following:

Seasoned cottage cheese.
Salad mixture of cooked meat, seafood,
Cheese or hard cooked eggs.
Salad mixture of chopped vegetables.

Marinated Tomato Salad
3 large tomatoes
6 stuffed olives, sliced
1 tbsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. marjoram
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1/3 cup salad oil
salad greens

Cut tomatoes in thick slices. Put tomatoes and olives in shallow dish. Mix sugar, salt, marjoram, lemon juice and oil and pour over tomatoes. Chill for an hour or two. Serve on salad greens.

Guacamole Salad
2 ripe avacados
1 ripe tomato
1 clove garlic, minced
3 green onion, finely chopped
4 to 6 drops tobasco
chili powder
salt and pepper
Peel and mash avacados. Peel tomato, chop fine and drain off juice. Blend all ingredients together, using chili powder, salt and pepper to taste. Serve as salad on lettuce bed, on top of tomatoes, or as a dip served with corn chips.

Plymouth Hits 195 MPH at Bonneville

BONNEVILLE, Utah . . . A 1963 Plymouth Sedan roars away from the starting line at the 15th Annual Bonneville National Speed Trials to register the fastest flying-mile time ever recorded for a production stock-bodied passenger automobile—195.97 mph. Owner-driver of the car, Norman C. Thatcher, (inset), 66-year-old grandfather of Van Nuys, California, is probably the oldest active racing driver in the United States. The supercharged Plymouth was equipped with modified SuperStock 470 cubic inch engine and fulfilled all production stock-bodied sedan competition requirements of the Southern California Timing Association—official sanctioning organization at the Trials.
