

Law In Action

It's easy to buy things on time if your credit is good. But some people try to make their credit look good when it isn't. This can lead to the crime of "theft by false pretenses."

In a recent case Sam Sadd wanted a new car just like his neighbor's.

At the Super Car Agency Sam could buy his new car for $300 down and 36 monthly payments.

THE AGENCY asked Sam to sign a credit report. Sam reported that he made $650 a month, had a $65 car allowance a month, and his wife worked for $400 a month.

Sam drove off with the new car. But when he fell down on his payments, the agency repossessed the car and found that Sam never did have the income he claimed. Truth was Sam was making only $500 when he worked, and he had taken a leave of absence and had never gone back to his job. His wife had not worked for years.

The agency complained to the district attorney, charging Sam with grand theft by false pretenses.

SAM WAS guilty as charged.

Though no one can be put in prison for debt, he can go

GET OUT OF THAT DUGOUT, AND GET INTO THE BALL GAME,

GO TO BAT FOR THE TEAM...

GIVE BLOOD TODAY

Please

to prison for fraud, if, when he "bought" the goods, he never meant to pay at all, any time. But it is no crime if he just happened to be broke but made a false claim. Using another's credit card without his permission is also a crime, just as it is to use one's own credit extensively, knowing full well that he cannot or will not pay. Again, this is theft by false pretenses.
