

Boy Scouts Begin Fall Round-Up

The greatest roundup in modern times—the roundup of boys into scouting—is now in progress.

Throughout America, boys who are not in scouting will be invited to join a Cub pack, Scout troop, or Explorer post.

Commissioner of the Los Angeles Area Boy Scout Council, William F. Stockwell, said that "Frontier Roundup" program began with a unit roll call and inspection.

ON THE SCOUT unit meeting night designated as roll call and inspection night, a commissioner attended. He called the roll to determine if any boys became inactive during the summer. Then he checked each boy's uniform. Scoutmasters have been encouraged to follow up on any boys found to be inactive, so that they may return for the fall programs.

Second major event of "Frontier Roundup" will be district rallies during next week.

One boy and one adult from each unit will be invited to attend the local district roundtable. They will learn about school enrollment nights, and their parts in making a success of school open houses.

School enrollment nights will be held through Oct. 8.

HALF A MILLION "Join Us!" flyers will be distributed in schools in the Los Angeles Area Council prior to school enrollment nights. Boys in each school will be invited to attend a special evening meeting with their parents. The meeting will take place in the boy's school. Unit representatives and Commissioners will tell the boys and parents about Scouting, their own unit program, and then invite each to join the unit.

Through roll call and inspection night, district rallies at Roundtables and school enrollment night, each unit should be easily able to increase its membership. Open houses will be scheduled by each unit in December for presentation of awards and institutional recognition.

NEIGHBORHOOD commissioners will assist units in filling out the membership goal cards for "Frontier Roundup."

The awards program is designed to recognize boys and units doing an outstanding job in sharing Scouting with more boys. Each boy who brings a friend into Scouting will receive a small, rectangular recruiter patch in red, white and blue.

Top recruiter in each Scouting unit will receive a colorful embroidered square patch. Each unit leader and commissioner who meets his goal will receive an attractive neckerchief slide.

Each unit to meet its goal will be awarded an attractive banner in red, white, blue and yellow.

If your hunting area is at a higher altitude than you're used to, go a few days early and give yourself time to adjust before you start active hunting, the Los Angeles County Heart Assn. suggests.
