

Does Your Man Look His Best?

When a woman goes a-courting, you are all attention to your swain's every detail.

Your eyes are like radar, searching and surveying.

Your hands, like nervous butterflies, flutter all over, straightening a crooked tie, brushing a stray hair from the brow, removing a piece of lint, checking a suspicious hair on the shoulder, wiping your lipstick smear from his cheek, testing the crease in his trousers and glossing the shine on his shoes.

Proudly you treat him like a rare museum piece, offering him jealously for your friends to view but NOT to touch.

But when the wedding bells fade into the distance, so does your attention.

One ex-husband told me the reason he dumped his wife was that after 10 years of marriage he grew a mustache to relieve his boredom.

He expected some sort of recognition of this from his wife, whether pro or con. His co-workers either teased or admired him, some of the women on his staff even wanting to see whether it tickled or not.

During the three months that he wore it his wife not only did not notice or comment on it, she didn't even notice when he finally shaved it off.

So far afield had she wandered from her vows of marriage that she no longer was aware of him or anything about him. Her furniture received more notice than he.

Why is it that in this country your dogs seem to get more attention and loving than a husband? Pray tell, just what can your dog do better than he?

As the breadwinner in your family he deserves all the attention you can find time to give, and if you were a good wife you'd find plenty of time.

You'd be surprised at the love returns you'll get with just the simple morning adjustment of his necktie, or the wifely, "Wait a minute, dear, I want to brush your coat."

It costs you no more to be a better wife, but the expense is dear when you're running second best.

That slob around your house might shape up and become your knight in shining armor if you just polish him up a bit with butter.

Try it and see the difference.

Semi-Finalists Listed For Merit Scholarships

Ten area students have been named semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, following tabulation of the qualifying test scores.

Among those named were William E. Gallas and Allan H. Trimpi, both seniors at Chadwick School in Rolling Hills; Richard Hughes, a Carson High student, and Douglas A. Cook, who now attends North High.

Others to win the semi-finalist rank were William Bedsworth and Terry Y. Keating, Bishop Montgomery High; John A. Jackson, Barry R. Keller, and Robert D. Vogl, all from South High. John Haig of Torrance High. Trimpi plans to study veterinary science, while Galas and Bedsworth will continue their studies in social science.

Hughes lists his major as business administration. Haig and Cook plan to study engineering in college, and Keller will major in physics. Jackson plans on a major in history.

Keating and Vogl have not decided on a college major.

Merit Scholars will be announced during April, 1965. Those selected for National Merit Scholarships may qualify for awards of up to $6,000. About 1,625 scholarships will be presented to finalists.

Local Youth Will Study In Germany

Lawrence Hunt, 1924 Arlington Ave., entered the University of Heidelberg this fall as a participant in the second international program sponsored by the California State College system.

Hunt is one of 11 students from the California State College at Long Beach to go abroad this year. Approximately 220 students from all of the 16 state colleges are attending universities in France, Germany, Spain, Sweden and Japan.

Bowler, Younger Will Debate Campaign Issues

Manley J. Bowler and Judge Evelle J. Younger, candidates for district attorney in the Nov. 3 General Election, will face each other in the Politics '64 series of debates Thursday evening.

James Barrett, president of the South Bay Bar Association, will serve as moderator for the debate. Under the sponsorship of the South Bay Forum, Inc., the debate will begin at 8 o'clock at the Torrance Recreation Center.

A Judge of the Superior Court, Judge Younger served as presiding judge in 1962. He recently served as chairman of the Criminal Law Section of the American Bar Association and has served on a number of committees in the California, Los Angeles County, and local bar associations.

Bowler is presently the chief deputy district attorney in Los Angeles. He began his career in 1942 in the Los Angeles city attorney's office. He joined the district attorney's office in 1944.

The candidates meeting is

Manufacturer Shows Sales Volume Gain

Operating results of H. Shear Corp. for the first half of the current fiscal year have been announced by George S. Wing, president. Net earnings for the fiscal first half ended Aug. 31, 1964, were $463,600, up 117 percent over net earnings of $213,800 for the first half of the previous fiscal year.

"Record sales volume over the past year has contributed greatly to our gains in net earnings," commented Wing.

Discussion Groups Begin On Child Growth, Behavior

Parent discussion groups directed toward child growth, behavior, and family relationships are in session at the Torrance Health Center, 2300 W. Carson St., according to Dr. Earl W. Kendrick, district health officer.

Purpose of the discussion meetings, according to Dr. Kendrick, is to "achieve greater happiness for parents and children and to find more satisfaction in family life."

Any parent with children between the ages of 2 and 6 may attend the meetings. Registration can be completed by calling the health center, FA 8-3310, between 9 and 11 a.m. or 1 and 3 p.m.

The classes, sponsored by the County Health Department and Pacific Oaks College, will meet from 9:30 to 11 a.m. each Tuesday for about seven weeks.
